

Grandi Sails For Home Today After Discussions With Hoover

MINISTER SAYS ITALY AIMS AT WORLD PEACE

Hopes to See Disarmament and Arbitration Bring Harmony in Europe

New York —(P)—Dino Grandi's 11-day visit to America, undertaken in the hope of aligning Italy and America in efforts toward world peace and prosperity, ended today.

The Italian foreign minister and his party were to sail for home aboard the steam Augustus at 3 o'clock p. m.

Since his arrival early last week, Grandi has held conversations with President Hoover, Secretary of State Stimson and other high officials of the government, and has been the guest of New York, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. Both Grandi and the White House have stated that the Washington conferences were most satisfactory in their results.

In his most ambitious public address, delivered last night at the Foreign Policy association dinner and broadcast nationally, Grandi made the following extemporaneous addition to his prepared speech:

"This day—today—the American people celebrate the Thanksgiving day. Let us hope that next year we shall be able to thank God for having given the nations of the whole world peace, a better understanding and a safer foundation."

Says Italy Wants Peace

The Italian foreign minister spoke earnestly, avowing Italy's desire to see the peace of Europe based upon disarmament and arbitration. Italy is convinced, he said, that "at the very bottom" the political uneasiness throughout the world is due to "mutual fear and distrust arising out of armaments."

His hope that some constructive steps might be taken toward disarmament, he said, had been encouraged by the attitude of the American government and by American public opinion.

In a telegram late yesterday, to Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, Grandi asked that, pending the extension to Orlando Spartaco, the young anti-Fascist who leaped upon the running board of the Grandi automobile in Philadelphia and cried "down with Mussolini! Down with Grandi!" Spartaco was sentenced to two years imprisonment as a result of the episode.

"I have not the slightest intention of interfering with the administration of justice in this country," the foreign minister's telegram said. "But I feel that I could make a personal appeal to you to take into consideration the possibility of an act of clemency."

Gov. Pinchot had not indicated to-day what action he would take. The Philadelphia judge who passed sentence on Spartaco said that as far as he was concerned, the case was closed.

UP TO COUNCIL

Philadelphia —(P)—Any move for clemency for Orlando Spartaco, asked for last night by Italian Foreign Minister Grandi in an appeal to Governor Pinchot, must come from the young man's counsel, officials pointed out today.

Spartaco is in jail under a two year sentence on a charge of inciting to riot for jumping on the running board of the automobile of the foreign minister here last week.

David Levinson, counsel for Spartaco, said he would take an appeal to the superior court.

"Spartaco was not convicted for anything he did to Grandi," said Judge Harry S. McDewitt. "His offense was inciting to riot and he deserved the sentence. His act was calculated to cause possible bloodshed."

When Spartaco jumped on the car, police said he shouted "down with Mussolini! down with Grandi. You are murdering our Italian youth."

Ex-Delivery Boy

Angelo Rosel, above, mayor of San Francisco, is a former floral shop delivery boy. He left a California mining camp many years ago to come to the city and that was the first job he could find. When Mayor Rosel became governor of California, Rosel was appointed to succeed him and was chosen to succeed himself at the recent election.

321 Meals Served By Army Corps

What was probably the largest Thanksgiving day party in the city Thursday was staged at Salvation Army headquarters when 321 persons, transients and townspeople sat down to partake of chicken, lamb chops, pumpkin pie and ice cream.

"Soldiers" of the army corps started serving at noon and continued to spread food on the tables until supper time, according to Captain H. L. Servais.

Dinners were served to 109 townspeople and 212 transients, Captain Servais said. Last night 124 persons slept in the corps dormitories.

The transient element was served with lamb chops, while the townsfolk were given chicken dinners. The rest of the menu consisted of potatoes, pork and beans, squash, vegetables of all kinds, rolls and bread, jellies, dressing, pumpkin pie, and ice cream.

At 7:30 Thursday evening the big assembly gathered in the corps auditorium where Thanksgiving services were conducted by Captain Servais. The topic of his sermon was "Thanksgiving."

INDIANS LOST IN STORM ARE BEING SOUGHT

600 Tribesmen Believed Facing Death by Starvation in Mesas

Gallup, N. M. —(P)—Medicine men thanked the sun god today for the escape of 600 Navajo and Juni tribesmen from the snowswept lower plateaus and prayed for the safety of as many more still facing death by starvation and cold atop the mesas of Malpais.

The sun yesterday melted the snow shown on the lower country by a blizzard almost a week ago and marooned many of the tribesmen, picking expedition, to return to the settlements. Deep drifts of the high country, however, still held the secret of the fate of their brethren.

Nine persons, four of them children, are known to be dead. Hungry, wet and suffering from frozen toes, feet and hands, the stragglers from the army of nut pickers wandered into the pueblos.

The little village of Zuni was crowded with Navajos last night, Navajo, ignoring tribal feeling, laid down with Zunis and Mesquiteros to sleep again on warm pueblo floors.

Three parties, composed of Indians, but headed by white men, were breaking trail to the high mesas in desperate effort to reach the marooned families before their supply of pinon nuts became exhausted.

Five wagon loads of food and forage are enroute to the Atarque, where many of the refugees are crowded into a village built for 300 persons. C. G. Wallace Indian trader, broke through to Zuni with a truck, gathering 39 Indian refugees on the way.

White Man Missing

Stockmen of the Zuni region expressed belief that A. J. Crockett, formerly of El Paso, Texas, was in one of his several sheep camps. He is the only white man known to be missing.

Among the parties forging through deep drifts to the marooned nut pickers are many who are husbands and fathers of the victims. It is the Zuni custom for the men to

ALIMONY CLUB PICKS CHIEF—THANKFUL TO BE LODGED IN JAIL

Chicago —(P)—The Alimony club gave thanks yesterday, and honored a fellow member by electing him president.

The new president, Michael J. Conley, after enjoying a Thanksgiving dinner, said:

"Follow husbands, let us give thanks. We have a lot to be thankful for. In the first place we have just had a sumptuous repast—and we don't have to foot the bill.

"We are sheltered and we don't have any rent to meet. This, in fact, is the life. I'm almost prepared to say that we should even give thanks to our wives. They put us here."

establish their women and children in the nut camp and then return to their fields. The Navajos likewise take their families along, but the men, instead of returning to their camps, wait and return with the nuts which they sell at trading posts. The women remain behind on these trading trips.

Very few provisions are ever taken as the Indians depend on an immediate nut harvest for food. The first frost makes the nuts harvestable and it is not until after the frost that the expedition leave the valleys.

Nearly all the Zuni men had returned to the fields and many of the Navajos were down with the first fruits of their harvest when the storm broke last Saturday. The women, they said, are protected from the winds only by canvas wagon sheets. The Navajos and Zunis are mud builders and have very little use for tents.

Educators Praise Goal Plan Originated By A.G. Meating

High praise is being expressed by educators in the rural school field throughout the state for the goal card scoring system which has been developed and put into use in Outagamie county rural schools by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Meating was assisted in the work by Miss Nellie McDermott and A. L. Collar, rural schools supervisors.

The cards, which were placed in use the first time this year after Mr. Meating spent several years in compiling them, are used as a supplement to the regular report cards. The new goal cards enable parents and pupils as well as the teachers to determine the progress being made by the student at any time of the year. The cards set up certain definite goals which must be accomplished during the year of study and definite progress of the student is marked by his ability to fulfill the various goal requirements.

Copies of the goal cards were sent out by Mr. Meating to other superintendents in the state. Miss Maybell G. Bush, a supervisor of elementary schools with the state department of education says:

"You deserve high praise for the accomplishment you have made in working out this goal card system. It is the type of report that really means something. When I learn more about how the system works in your county I shall be glad to introduce the cards to other superintendents of the state with the suggestion that they adopt it.

J. M. Reed, Rhineland, Oneida county superintendent of schools, says:

"You are to be commended for the excellent job you have done in working out the new goal cards. I am planning to introduce the cards in my schools because I believe that they will accomplish a result which has long been needed in the rural schools."

Miss Anna Ryss, Oshkosh, superintendent of the Winnebago schools, says:

"A commendable job has been accomplished by you in the compiling of your new goal card system for rural school students. Anyone who can read can tell at a glance just what progress the students are making. I am planning an intensive study of your new plan."

COUNCIL FACES STIFF JOB OF SETTING BUDGET

City Fathers Sharpening
Pencils in Readiness for Gruelling Task

The annual budget specter looms before the common council. Within a week the 12 aldermen and the mayor will sit down to the grueling task of budgeting city expenditures for the coming year, a task which this year will be especially trying because there will be less money to spend and more things to spend it on.

Always a difficult job, preparing the budget this year will be extremely hard, because every department will want its usual appropriation and the council will have to say no and no and no. They will be cursed if they spend and they'll be cursed if they don't spend, but whatever the comment their one purpose is to pare the budget to the bone so Appleton's tax rate can be dropped to a low level.

Departments have already been asked to submit their estimates for the year. The amounts of the school levy and the county levy are already known, $385,730 for the former, and $23,568 for the latter. As soon as all board of review hearings are completed, which may be the end of this week, the council, with sharpened pencils and Scotch tenders, will begin the tremendous job of preparing the budget. By the time this is finished it is expected that all readjustments of the assessment roll will be completed and the assessed valuation of Appleton ready for announcement. Then, with a knowledge of how much it will cost to run the city, the schools, the amount to be paid to the county, and what the revenues will be from utility and income taxes, fees and licenses, the 13 men will determine the 1932 tax rate.

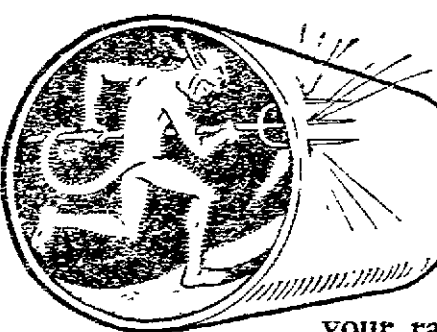

As soon as the rate is fixed, the treasurer will begin making out receipts. Every attempt is being made to get everything done so the collection period can be started on Dec. 23.

WON'T HOLD INQUEST IN FATAL ACCIDENT

District Attorney Says Driver Is Not to Blame in Crash

There will be no inquest into the death of Herschel Pagel, 23, Appleton, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on Highway 41 Sunday night, Nov. 15, it was decided today by District Attorney Stanley A. Stalld. The district attorney said he had made a thorough investigation of the accident and that no blame could be attached to Charles Melzer, 715 W. Prospect, driver of the car in which Pagel was riding when he was hurt. Melzer was driving toward Kaukauna when he crashed his car into a ditch in an effort to avoid striking another machine which was driving onto the highway from a driveway. The machine overturned and Pagel, who was in the front seat, suffered a fractured neck, broken arm and internal injuries which caused his death three days later. With Pagel in the rumble seat was Miss Hazel Fischer, 505 W. Washington, who suffered a dislocated hip. Miss Viola A. Kiefer, 220 W. Fourth, who was with Melzer, suffered only minor injuries.

STUDENT BANKING PERCENTAGE HIGHER

The percentage of student banking in the city went up to its regular mark last week, a total of $513.98 in deposits was made by 3,022 school children. McKinley junior high school and the orthopedic schools are maintaining their perfect banking record. Columbus, McKinley and grade schools are above 99 percent. The other schools rank in the following order: Franklin, Roosevelt junior high school, First Ward, Richmond, Jefferson, Washington, Wilson junior high school, Appleton high school and the opportunity room at Lincoln school.

WOULD EXTEND CONSTRUCTION LIMITS HERE

Change in Present Plan Would Raise City's Share of State Aid

Recommendation that Appleton's construction limits for state trunk highways be extended three-quarters of a mile, thus increasing Appleton's allotment from the state for highway maintenance will be made by the Wisconsin Highway commission by N. P. Hayes, maintenance engineer from the Green Bay office. If granted, it will mean a $400 increase in this city's appropriation for 1932, which was $12,300, over a $500 drop from the $2,595 of 1931.

The reason for the decrease was the rerouting of Highway 41 over Richmond and Wisconsin. Though the length of the state trunk is the same as it was when it was routed over College and Rankin, placing it on Richmond resulted in a double routing, as Highway 10 also is routed over Richmond.

After an inspection trip with J. M. Schindler, city engineer, Mr. Hayes is suggesting to the highway commission that the construction limits for Highway 41 be extended west on Wisconsin to Glacier, and for Highway 103 west as far as Carver.

Construction limits depend upon the number of houses along a highway. If the houses are more than 200 feet apart, on an average, the territory cannot be included in the city construction limits.

SELL ARRANGES SECOND SERIES OF MEETINGS

Another series of meetings for farmers at which Feeds and Getting the most of the Feed Dollar will be discussed by Gus Sell, county agent, have been arranged for next week. Mr. Sell is holding a series of meetings in the county this week and discussing the same subject. At the meetings Mr. Sell distributes copies of a bulletin, prepared by the state department of agriculture, in which methods of getting the most for each dollar spent for feed are discussed. Mr. Sell also discusses the bulletin. Meetings next week are as follows: Tuesday evening, Cleo town hall; Wednesday afternoon, Stevensville auditorium; Thursday afternoon, Liberty town hall; Friday evening, Bear Creek village hall.

MEETING TO ATTEND MADISON CONFERENCE

A. G. Meadling, county superintendent of schools, will go to Madison on Dec. 2, 3 and 4, to attend school men's week which is being planned by the state department of education. Conferences on educational problems will feature the three-day program. Mr. Meadling will attend special sessions for county superintendents of schools.

Market Department To Continue Cheese Inquiry, Hill States

CHAIRMAN SAYS ATTACKS WON'T HALT ACTIVITY

Opens Hearing at Marshfield on Alleged Unfair Trade Practices

Marshfield, Wis. (AP)—Charles L. Hill, chairman of the state department of agriculture and markets, here today to convene the fourth hearing relative to trade practices of the Farmers' Call Board operating at Plymouth, declared the department would continue its investigation "despite attempts to scare the department into dropping the investigation."

In opening the hearing on alleged unfair trade practices of the board, Hill said:

"The hue and cry raised in certain quarters in regard to this matter, the campaign of imprecations and vilifications, the threats leveled at the department have seemingly been calculated to frighten the members of the department into dropping the investigation or at least to make it render an indifferent type of decision."

"The department will not bring the investigation to a close until it has obtained the necessary facts that will enable it to make an impartial decision."

Cites Conference

He said at the Fond du Lac conference where the present cheese prices had its inception, 1,500 farmers cheered the investigations of the department and demanded a new setup on the matter of determining cheese prices.

"But the important feature of the present investigation was that its findings were laid before the people of the state," he said. "We are happy to report that farmers are backing the department in its efforts at an impartial investigation. Proof of this is seen in the resolutions adopted at various conventions of farm organizations."

He said that while three cheese-makers organizations have condemned the investigations, the Pure Milk Products cooperative, the Society of Equity, the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation, and the Farmers' Call Board, all have commended the investigation and the work of the state cheese committee.

"All factors in the trade expressed themselves as willing to cooperate with the committee except the Farmers' Call Board," he said. "As time went on and it became evident the board would not accept the committee's findings, a resolution calling for the department to start action on unfair trade practice in regard to the board."

That action he said, is now under way.

STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF TEACHING ENGLISH

Milwaukee (AP)—The National Council of Teachers of English has made clear to the nation that the problem of teaching the mother tongue is of national importance, Professor James F. Hiose of Teachers college, Columbia university, New York, said last night at the initial session of the council's convention here.

Before 1910, he said, the teaching of English was considered merely as a means of training youth for entrance into college. Now it is recognized that the preparation for college is a minor concern of the school, and that the problem of the English teachers is to provide adequate training in the writing and speaking of the language.

He said schools were facing problems concerning the proper utilization of scientific methods of research. The reorganization of schools to aid in the process of social betterment and reconstruction, and the problem of a background for latent racial interests and liberated intelligence with regard to our world neighbors.

18 CASES OF DISEASE REPORTED IN COUNTY

Eighteen cases of contagious disease were reported from Appleton in the week ending Nov. 21 according to a report received by Miss Marie Kline, county nurse, from the state board of health. Five of the cases, two of measles and three of whooping cough, were reported from Appleton. Other diseases were reported as follows: town of Cicero, chicken pox, one; town of Dale, whooping cough, four; and pneumonia, one; town of Kaukauna, whooping cough, one; Kimberly, scarlet fever, two; town of Lodi, scarlet fever, one; Shoshone, rubella, one.

LIONS POSTPONE MONDAY'S MEETING

There was to be no meeting of Appleton Lions club Monday night, according to officers. Members would attend the Forum dinner of the chamber of commerce at Hotel Northern Tuesday morning. The Rotary club is sponsoring the dinner. Dr. Henry B. Winston, president of Lawrence college, will speak.

HEARING OPENED ON ASSESSMENT PROTEST

NAME STEEL TUBE COMPANY PRESIDENT IN CONTEMPT CASE

Charge Markman Converted Receiver's Property to His Own Use

Testimony was being taken before Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court this morning in the case of John M. Balhet, receiver for the Wisconsin Drawn Steel Tube company, versus M. K. Markman, 740 E. College-ave, president of the same company. Markman is ordered to show cause why he should not be judged in contempt of circuit court, which named the receiver last August.

In the complaint the receiver charges that Markman is in contempt of court because he used materials belonging to the receiver. It is charged he used these materials and sold the manufactured products through his sales company.

Last week Judge Werner issued an injunction restraining Markman from operating the steel plant at 241 W. Spencer-st. The injunction was vacated, however, several days later on motion of Markman's attorneys when the judge held there was insufficient grounds to sustain it.

Markman now is at liberty under bonds pending hearings on three warrants charging him with criminal offenses. On Nov. 12 a warrant was issued charging Markman with selling mortgaged property valued at $12,000. Last week Markman was arrested here on a warrant charging he made a false statement to secure a loan from the National Manufacturers' bank of Neenah. The bank alleges Markman secured credit of $10,000 by misrepresenting assets and liabilities of his company and as a result the bank suffered a loss.

Markman was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann on this charge and the hearing was set for Dec. 17. Later last week a warrant charging the same offense was issued at Oshkosh and Markman was arraigned in circuit court. Hearings of that case was set for Dec. 4.

SNOW PROBABLE FOR TONIGHT, SATURDAY

More snow is probable for Appleton and vicinity during the next 24 hours, according to the weatherman. The mercury is due for a drop tonight, but Saturday it will start rising. Snow fell in this vicinity last night. By noon, however, most of it disappeared. Winders are blowing to the south and south-west a good deal. That warmer weather is on the way. At 6 o'clock Friday morning the thermometer registered 15 degrees below zero, and at noon it registered 22 degrees above.

OPEN CARVING LESSONS

Fog Interferes With Sheriff's Moose Hunt

Appleton, Wis. yesterday.

deErboos:

I had a invassum to go hunting for Moose up in the Canadian wilds with the Sheriff, John Lappen, John Niesen of Kaukauna, and Carl Greunke of Appleton. I didn't go along though because I was too busy with all my other duties to get away from the office. The Sheriff said they were hunting for some last night but they didn't have any luck at all.

The Sheriff and the other hunters left the city last week and the left drove up to way north of Iron

MUCH MARRIED WOMAN GIVES GIRLS ADVICE

Louisiana Woman Says Only Three of Her 11 Husbands Were Worthwhile

Urania, La. — "Yes, I know something about men and marriage. I crave companionship, especially since I am nearing old age, and because my experiences with men have not been altogether pleasant. I have not lost all confidence in mankind. One thing I have noticed about men before marriage. How attentive he is to the girl he hopes to marry. He carries the umbrella over her head. He lugs the boxes and the shawls; he picks out the cleanest patch for her to walk; shoes off the dogs and the pigs as they walk along; buys a big stick of peppermint candy and bottles of soda pop—and he goes with her to her own church, even though he is nothing; he swears she is just perfect. But after marriage what happens?"

"He walks on ahead, leaving her to follow as she can. He shows in every way that he thinks he is a superior creature and then he winds up by showing disrespect for her church. He played the hypocrite to get a wife and now while still pretending to love her, shows that he is not a gentleman by nagging after her and even ridiculing her church. Beware, girls, of the liar who wants to fondle and kiss you falling on his knees and swearing undying love."

"He is a snake in the grass and learned his part from the picture shows of some trashy story. Keep your sweetheart at your finger's end. If he is worthwhile he will wait patiently and think more of you when he does win you."

"Then we have beasts—lustful beasts who pretend to want a wife, but are not capable of knowing what a wife is—he wants a woman, that's all. There are thousands of such beastly beings who entered the marriage state for legalized adultery. There are families where husbands and wives go as they please and brag about it. The husband or father is a beastly drunkard or profane brute—but sometimes the wife is the immoral one, but not often. I was raised in the church and heard the preachers tell of married life as it should be—that it was not good for man to be alone—that he should have a helpmate—and live honorably and uprightly as St. Paul admonished."

"I have been married 11 times—but three of these husbands were worthy of the name man, and that is about the average you will find of all males—three out of 11. Why, one of my husbands was worth a whole cowpen full of the others."

"This last man, Louis Paschal, to whom I was foolish enough to marry, has given out to the press that I paid him $5000 to leave. I want the world to know that I never gave him one cent. I talked over the matter with him and told him that he was weighed in the balance and found wanting—that he did not do enough work to earn his board and keep—that I wanted an industrious man around the place who would plow, milk the cows, look after the stock and at least do half as much work as I did."

I told him he was not the man I needed—that he was in some good man's way."

"I was born 62 years ago in Jackson parish of poor but honest farmers of parents and was given the name of Caroline Frost."

"At 14 I married a young fellow, Duff McDonald, who had a farm near Tulles. I worked side by side with the man in the field—worked more than him and got more pay. I was strong and not afraid of work—in fact everything worked—there were no idlers. Nine babies came in 14 years and when my husband died, the eldest child was 13 and the youngest was born a few months after the father's death."

"A few years later Mr. McDonald came to me and was a good man—I married Lee Walters, who came from New York and was a worker on the railroad. He proved to be a whiskey drinker. He got in trouble and disappeared."

"Charles Brownson of Connecticut was working on the section at Tulles a wage of $1.50 a day when I won my heart and we were married and went to Urania, where Charles had secured a job as road master for the N. Y. and R. Railroad Company at $70 a month. We bought 240 acres of land, built a new home and went to work with a will. Charles was a good man—kind and considerate towards me. We were happy and a good home."

"Our home was a heaven for 10 years until Charles was killed while coupling cars. My heart was broken."

"B. Hamard, a mighty nice man, was my next husband. He knew how to farm and do all kinds of work. He was not lazy. His death was due to malaria."

"I was more lonely than ever and when J. W. Wilks of Texas came over, eagerly dressed and of impressive appearance, I decided that was it. We were married, and then he tried to far me loose from my money. I told him to go and never returned."

"John Gardner, a soldier of fortune, came on and I divorced him on grounds of infidelity."

"Charles White was the next one and I soon told him to divorce. He was the cause for my divorce."

"George Lust, a gypsy, Serbian came to the scene. He seemed able to work, but soon got lazy and loved the bright lights of the cities. I told him to 'scat' and got a divorce."

Apparently Agree on Neutral Zone in Pieping-Mukden District

orders to resist any attack, and that the Chinese will retire beyond the great wall only if the league defines a neutral zone beyond which the Japanese must not approach toward Chinchow.

A high Chinese authority summed up his own opinion of the situation thus: "We young fellows who built up the Nationalist government have formed a state of peaceful lines. We have neglected the defense budget and we have put our trust in the league and international treaties promising respect for territorial integrity and political independence."

"Now we have lost faith. We must build up our defenses and save ourselves."

The Chinese here admit China's forces in the field have little chance against the highly-trained Japanese army. The Mukden arsenal, where the Chinese had modern tanks, planes, artillery and other military equipment was seized in the first Japanese drive.

Foreign offices are available as instructors for the Chinese troops, they said, but the whole fiscal organization of the government would have to be reconstructed to finance the measures which would be necessary to put the army on an efficient basis.

ISSUE ULTIMATUM

Tientsin, China. (AP)—Japanese military authorities issued an ultimatum to the Chinese here today, demanding that they cease firing by noon.

The ultimatum also contained the following demands:

Removal of troops outside the 6-mile radius in accordance with the terms of the Boxer protocol.

Cessation of patrols along the river by Chinese constabulary.

That the troops in this province refrain from taking a hostile attitude toward Japan.

That they refrain from moving their present positions.

Wang Shu-Chang, Chinese provincial chairman, replying to the ultimatum, said the Chinese would act in accord with the treaties but he failed to see why they should not continue patrolling the river or why troops should be forbidden to move.

Twenty Chinese were killed or wounded last night in the native city. No Japanese casualties were reported. The provincial government and municipal buildings, as well as Northern telephone exchange, were reported to have been damaged by shells.

The Japanese consul general asked his government to send ships to transport women and children back to Japan because of the difficulty of providing for their safety.

A Japanese military transport unloaded 350 cases of ammunition and war supplies this morning at Tangku, 90 miles from here. A Japanese detachment of 150 marines is reported proceeding up the river and was expected to reach here late tonight.

Tokio (AP)—A government spokesman announced today that the Japanese cabinet of Premier Wakatsuki will resign if the army attacks Manchuria.

The resignation, he said, would be a protest against evidence that the army had gone beyond cabinet control.

The announcement followed reports that troops were marching down the peninsula against the South Manchurian stronghold of Chang Hsueh-Liang and that a battle there is imminent.

Any attack would be contrary to the government's orders, the spokesman said, for a pledge has been given that Chinchow would not be molested. If the army ignores the government to this extent, he said, it means that the army is beyond cabinet control.

He emphasized that occupation of Chinchow would be a major operation and would probably require a fortnight at least.

Possible Reinforcements

If the situation at Tientsin, where fighting has been going on since yesterday, grows worse, he said, reinforcements would have to be sent there and to Shanhaikwan from the nearest Chinchow.

The navy department announced that the cruiser Takuma, carrying a landing party of bluejackets, has been ordered to Tientsin from Sasebo.

Japanese newspapers, in extra editions, declared a clash is imminent in the region of Hsinminfu and Tachuan.

Baron Shidehara, foreign minister, had an audience with the emperor this afternoon. He was understood to have pointed out that General Minami, war minister, attended the morning cabinet session and the general and himself were in accord in upholding the government's policy.

General Hanzo Kanaya, chief of the general staff, also had an audience with the emperor in which, local newspapers said he discussed the situation at Tientsin.

RUBBISH COLLECTION STARTS NEXT TUESDAY

The monthly rubbish collection will start early Tuesday morning, instead of Monday morning. Formerly the pickup was started on Monday, but at the last council meeting it was changed to Tuesday, because there were objections to the number of rubbish receptacles on the streets.

It was pointed out by one of the aldermen that if the collection started on Tuesday, residents could place the rubbish at the curb on Monday instead of on Sunday.

APPLETON YOUTH IS SHOT IN LEG WHILE SQUIRREL HUNTING

Edward Fuerst, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Fuerst, 1515 S. Kernan-ave, is in Community hospital at New London with a gunshot wound in his left leg above the knee. Fuerst was accidentally shot about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon while squirrel hunting in the woods north-east of New London with two companions, Max Kroles, 1532 E. Gunn-st, and Ray Dietzen, route 3.

The three had been in the woods about an hour and had shot several squirrels when the accident happened. They were examining the safety catch on one of the guns when it went off, the charge striking Fuerst in the leg. Kroles and Dietzen immediately provided a tourniquet with handkerchiefs and succeeded in stopping the flow of blood from the wound. They then carried Fuerst to their car, a distance of about a half mile, and took him to the hospital at New London. He will remain in the hospital for treatment.

SCOUTS START CITY CANVASS FOR CLOTHING

250 Youngsters Help Appleton Welfare and Relief Council in Drive

Two hundred and fifty valley council boy scouts, under the direction of scoutmasters and patrol leaders, at 8:30 Friday morning started canvassing the city for old clothes for the committee representing the Appleton Welfare and Relief council. Mrs. Paul Hackbert is committee chairman.

The youngsters are making a door-to-door canvass, asking housewives if they have old clothing and furniture for needy families of the city. At 8:30 Saturday morning, scouts will start picking up old clothing and furniture with trucks at homes so designated.

Stealing a lead on other scouts in the campaign, a group of youngsters yesterday started canvassing in the Fourth ward and were promised bundles of clothing by the various housewives in that part of the city. Cooperating with the committee, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., has offered the services of three city street department's trucks for the clothing collection. Three other trucks are being provided by various business men of the city.

When the old clothes are gathered they are to be taken to a room reserved for that purpose at Hotel Northern. The clothing will be distributed from this point.

Ten scout troops are taking part in the drive. Each troop is handling a designated portion of the city, outlined by M. G. Clark, valley scout executive.

COEDS FACE REBUFS FOR CAMPUS SMOKING

Los Angeles (AP)—Women at the University of Southern California are determined to stop co-ed smoking on the campus. They have issued an ultimatum and violations will be dealt with by summons from a campus "court," where penalties will be inflicted.

The action was taken by the Women's Self Government association, arbiter of campus problems of the co-eds.

It will provide the court and the Amazons, a disciplinary organization of upperclass women, will provide the police.

CHRISTOPHER RANDERSON

The funeral of Christopher Randerson, who died suddenly at his home, route 6, Appleton, Wednesday morning, will be held at 9 o'clock a. m. Saturday from the home, with services at 9:30 at St. Nicholas church at Freedom. Burial will be in the church cemetery. Survivors are five daughters, Sister M. Cyrinus, St. Thomas convent, Chicago; Mrs. John Wenzmann, Appleton; Mrs. Herman Kline, Jr., Milwaukee; Mrs. Arthur Vachell, Black Creek; and Mrs. Raymond Wagner, Seymour; one son, Lee Little Chute; two brothers, Patrick of Little Chute and James of Seymour; one sister, Mrs. Ann McCabe, DePere, and six grand-children.

NONA GROSKLAUS

Nona Delores Groszklaus, 5-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Groszklaus, Weyauwega, died at the home of her parents at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Only the parents survive.

MRS. LIZETTA KOSANKE

Mrs. Lizetta Kosanke, 72, widow of the late Gustave Kosanke, died at 11 o'clock Friday morning at Weyauwega. Survivors are one son, Robert, at home, and one daughter, Clara, Chicago.

COMMITTEE MEETS

The fire and water committee will meet at city hall Friday evening. The report of the Fire Insurance Rating bureau of Wisconsin, giving statistics on fire protection in all cities of the state, will be discussed. The bureau has received certain improvements in the fire fighting facilities of Appleton.

POULTRY MEN MEET

The Fox River Valley Poultry and Pet Stock association will meet at the George Loos shop Friday evening. Business pertaining to the annual chicken show will be discussed.

An Al person is recovering from an appendicitis operation at St. Elizabeth hospital.

PLEA ISSUED TO BUY SEALS FOR CHRISTMAS

Posters Advertising Campaign Distributed by Girl Scouts

"Buy Christmas seals—fight tuberculosis"

This reads the annual message on anti-tuberculosis posters in banks, hotels, schools, shop windows, bus-stops and clubrooms. The same plea is carried on the 1,700 penny Christmas stickers that were received today at Appleton residences. The posters were distributed this morning by 23 Girl Scouts, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Calnin, scout director.

The twenty-fifth annual seal campaign opened officially this morning under the leadership of Mrs. E. V. Werner, president of the Appleton Woman's club. The drive will last until the beginning of the new year, with the proposed goal set at $2,500. Mrs. O. R. Krohn, Mrs. J. R. Whitman and Miss Freda Hagen will form the committee with Mrs. Werner to have charge of the campaign activities in the city. Assisting with the work are Mrs. Fred Heinritz, Mrs. William Falatich, Mrs. R. N. Clapp, Mrs. E. F. Mumm.

Backed by Association

The seal sale is supported heartily by the Outagamie-co Medical association according to Dr. J. L. Benton, president of the organization.

"The seal sale is a worthy cause," Dr. Benton said, "and it is one that deserves the proper support of a community. Tuberculosis records show that the disease has decreased considerably in the state during the past 10 years, primarily through the effort of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis society which derives its activity income from this annual seal sale at Christmas time."

The Rev. Lyle D. Utts, pastor of All Saints Episcopal church and president of the First Ward Parent-Teachers' association, believes the seal campaign is an important factor in the proper protection of health of the community and nation.

"Of all the campaigns necessary for the maintenance of charity programs and welfare needs," Rev. Utts said, "there is none that quite reaches the heart of the teachings of Christianity and Judaism as the Tuberculosis seal campaign. The health of a community is of first importance and a phase of modern education that must not be overlooked."

Postmaster Emmery A. Greunke, in endorsing the seal campaign, declares that these Christmas seals make an attractive package and letter decoration as well as a worthy attempt to assist in the community fight against the white plague.

"However I want to caution all users to place their seals only on the backs of envelopes," he said. "Do not place them on the address side because this is against postal regulations. My advice is to place at least one Christmas seal sticker on every letter and package you send out from now until Christmas."

BIG INCREASE IN POULTRY SALES FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

With prices lower than they have been in years, approximately 20 per cent more poultry was sold on Thanksgiving day this year compared to the same day last year, according to Appleton meat dealers.

By Wednesday evening, merchants said their supplies of turkeys, geese, ducks and chickens had almost entirely vanished.

Turkey prices this year were about the same as 1930, ranging in the neighborhood of 35 cents. The greatest reductions were in duck prices. That variety of poultry was selling from 6 to 7 cents lower than in 1930, dealers said. Geese were quoted in the neighborhood of 20 cents per pound, three to five cents less than last year.

Naive little Serafina di Leo made her American debut here in "Il Trovatore" and so successful was it that she was called back repeatedly by the audience.

BIG PROBLEM FOR LEAGUE IN ORIENT STRIFE

Weaker European Powers Wonder if They Can Depend on Article Ten

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1931 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington

The league of nations is under a two-fold pressure. Not only is the public opinion of the world asking that a way be found to terminate Japanese-Chinese hostilities but the smaller powers of Europe are beginning to wonder whether they can rely any more on the famous article ten of the covenant to protect them against possible attacks from their larger neighbors.

The United States government, while not a member of the league, has officially taken the position ever since the war that nothing should be done by America to weaken the moral force of the Geneva institution. Indeed, the seat taken temporarily by the United States at the council table is for the express purpose of strengthening the moral power of the league through, to be sure, American participation is also justified under the Kellogg pact as well as the nine-power treaty.

Under the latter instrument, which was consummated in 1922, the United States became one of nine powers which virtually guaranteed the maintenance of the territorial integrity of China—a traditional American position ever since the days of the famous secretary of state of McKinley's administration—John Hay.

Small Nations Anxious
Article ten of the league covenant obligates its members to protect each other's territorial integrity and, since both China and Japan are members of the league, any violation of article ten raises the question of whether small or weak nations can rely on that provision which Woodrow Wilson, its author, once called the "heart" of the league.

So the obligation to protect China's territorial integrity has become equally that of the United States and the European powers and there is plenty of warrant in treaty and precedent for America support of the demand that Japan withdraw from Chinese territory. The central question has been how and when the withdrawal of troops should take place and under what conditions, for the league is proceeding on the assumption that the Japanese occupation of Manchuria is not at all permanent.

The league has as yet never invoked article ten. It has taken jurisdiction under other articles of the covenant which look rather toward conciliation or else investigation of the merits of a dispute by a neutral commission. This may be a long drawn out process and may try the patience of the onlookers but it is just as much a part of league machinery as is article ten.

Time Is Factor
Also it is considered by the diplomats to be better to approach a crisis slowly, so as to give the belligerents time to "cool off," than it is to rush in and invoke drastic measures.

If article ten is ever brought into the negotiations, it then becomes necessary for members of the league to decide definitely whether China's territorial integrity has been violated and if so what measures shall be taken to enforce the views of the league. This would mean an economic boycott as a natural sequel. None of the powers wants to go that far if this can possibly be avoided. Hence the slow procedure and the expressed hopes that Japan and China will not embarrass their fellow-members by forcing the issue to extremes.

The latest pronouncement of the league council, in which Ambassador Daves has concurred on behalf of the United States, provides machinery for investigating the merits of the dispute while at the same time affording the principals—Japan and China—a way out with honor. For if there has been aggression, a withdrawal of troops by Japan, based upon a cessation of anti-Japanese activity which is alleged to have provoked the Japanese penetration of Manchuria, would satisfy the league and the dispute would be relegated again to direct diplomatic negotiations between the interested powers. Some effort no doubt would then be made by the directly interested signatories of the nine-powers treaty to bring about a treaty or agreement which would prevent a repetition of the incidents that led to the present outbreak.

But if the present move fails, then action under article ten becomes inevitable not merely to avoid a general war in the Far East but to assure the weaker members of the league that the Geneva machinery for protecting them has not become impotent.

G. Bernard Shaw Gives New Picture Of Stalin

London—(AP)—A new description of Joseph Stalin, director of Communist power in Soviet Russia, was added to the thousands already on file today in the record of a speech made to the Fabian society last night by George Bernard Shaw, its high priest.

Stalin, Shaw told his fellow intellectual Socialists, is a puzzling potentate who is head man of all Russia, but his official position is "secretary of a committee chosen by himself for the purpose of electing himself its secretary."

He is a complete opportunist. Shaw went on, who, by a process of trial and error, is moulding a new Russia.

"You are either communists or you are what Ramsay MacDonald and Viscount Snowden are—what ever that is," he said in a voice of prophecy to his fellow Fabians. "Communism is a force which will be set up against capitalism. There is nothing left of Bolshevism, Collectivism, Anarchism or class war. Only Communism remains."

"Under the pressure of practical application the Soviet government has turned Communism into Fabianism. But the Communists won't take our name so we must take theirs."

After all, he added, Russian Communism is nothing more than the program the Fabians have been preaching the 40 years.

But he had his likes at Russia, too, based on observations made during his visit there last summer. The trouble with the first Russian tractor, he said, was that "they could not tract." He described Russian peasants, drafted for factory work, dumping tractor parts in the middle of the floor and trying to pick out the proper pieces and put them together.

"The trouble with Russia," he said, "is that there are too many people there like Bernard Shaw. They know all about Communism—its history and its principles, its theory and everything else—but they can't do it."

He recommended, however, that British workmen, who are entirely indifferent to their personal communism is nothing more than the program the Fabians have been preaching the 40 years.

Russian peasants, he said, are picturesque figures who kissed his head with their great beards and called him "Assa," who accompanied him to his four "dairies" and "little mother."

RELEASE TWO CHICAGO BOYS FROM CUSTODY

Two Chicago boys, 16 and 17, were released from police custody here this morning when police learned that relatives in Chicago knew the boys had taken a car and left on a weekend jaunt to visit relatives at Eagle River. The two boys were picked up late Thursday evening by Officers Joseph Rankin and George Behrendt. They told police they had permission to use the car for the trip to Eagle River, but police held the pair until the story could be checked.

THE RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Late in starting, Appleton people are preparing for their great effort from Dec. 9 to 11 to raise sufficient money to keep the spectre of want and misery from our citizens who, for whatever reasons, require friendly help from their more fortunate neighbors. The campaign committee, headed by Mr. J. R. Whitman, is pointing toward this three day campaign, and is counting upon the assistance of every man and woman in the community able to help.

With winter at our very doorstep it is not hard to visualize the situation of those unfortunates dependent upon generosity of others for their food, shelter and clothing. There should be no necessity for sobbing appeals or high pressure sales talks to touch the hearts and open the purses of our people.

Under the able leadership of Judge Fred V. Heinemann the organization to expand the fund for the benefit of the needy has been completed. It contemplates organized effort by the co-operating charities under competent direction, with every cent subscribed going directly to the poor in the way of food and fuel and clothes. There will be no working at cross-purposes, no duplication of effort, no lack of harmony or understanding among the cooperating charitable organizations.

Each organization and every individual member in the organizations will know exactly what is expected in the way of investigation, reports and service, and a competent advisory body will have authority to compel compliance with its rules for dispensing the fund and serving the needy.

With the need for help so evident that it requires no urging, and the assurance that every cent given to this fund will go for the purposes intended by the giver, there can be no real reasons advanced for not giving in this campaign. Those who offer them may well be suspected of trying to invent excuses to dodge an obligation that is apparent to every good citizen.

DARING THE COURT

In the abstract people expect their judges "to do the right as it is given them to see the right," to be unaffected by anything but the facts, uninfluenced by anything but the law. Every person will agree with that. It isn't hard to make definitions. The difficulty always comes in applying them.

Now let us bring out our definition and apply it to existing conditions: Joseph D. Beck, once congressman, once candidate for governor, is now commissioner of agriculture.

A dispute arose concerning provisions of law in Wisconsin in relation to oleomargarine.

Oleo and butter are deadly foes, an enmity perhaps not dating as far back as the "days of the house that Jack built" but certainly existing since oleo used the same rouge pack with which butter dolled up its countenance. Oleo is a villain, a hideous roustabout, a loafer and a scallawag. At least the dairy interests so assert and oleo makes no answer to the accusation other than a growl and a series of hisses. Oleo is not politically popular, whereas butter is the flaxen-haired and blue-eyed maiden in distress. Butter has used the lawmakers to put oleo down for the count but oleo has shown a remarkable ability to come back. The lawmakers cannot oust oleo but they hobble him with enough harness to weigh down and discourage even a mud horse.

The oleo interests started a lawsuit in relation to Wisconsin legislation and, pending a decision of that suit, Circuit Judge Zimmerman at Madison entered a temporary restraining order prohibiting Mr. Beck, among others, from engaging in unfair trade practices or taking any steps to alter the condition of the parties until the court had a chance to hear the case and decide it.

Such a restraining order is a matter of common practice. Certainly the circuit judges of the state average more than twenty of such orders a day. It is one of the necessary, in fact an indispensable adjunct of sensible law enforcement. In effect it merely says: "Until the parties can bring in their evidence and the court has time to hear it and decide the case, neither party will alter the present situation." And this is necessary because very often parties come before a court at the commencement of a lawsuit each asserting positive facts in exact opposition. The administration of justice would be completely frustrated if a court was without the authority to enter restraining orders and compel people to obey them until it could decide the merits of a controversy.

Judge Zimmerman has decided that Mr. Beck's violation of the restraining order was made "defiantly and knowingly with intent to violate it." The evidence showed without dispute that every time Mr. Beck violated the injunction he wrote a Madison newspaper a letter, three altogether, and that he asked a reporter to quote him as saying that "Beck was still fighting for the farmers and he wanted them to know it." Mr. Beck is willing to fight as long as he gets credit for it. What could be more terrible than wasting one's energy if the public didn't know it?

Mr. Beck's studied attempt to get into the newspapers to publish his defiance of the law, to herald himself as a hero, to build up political propaganda against some future time when he might again be a candidate for office are so plain and so pronounced that to fail to meet it would have been a concession that a man in a political office in Wisconsin by mere bravado or strength of voice could transgress the authority of others and flaunt his defiance as he pleased.

Self-appointed heroes are but a useless and mischievous set. They gather a grossly exaggerated notion of themselves and what they are doing. They must be worshipped from afar. The halo fades on a close-up.

Under ordinary circumstances Mr. Beck might turn to the public and show himself all bruised and torn at the hands of a "judicial menace." He might, as many others of his disposition have before him, attempt to parade a judge as the enemy of the people when in truth the judge was trying to protect the people from a real enemy. But Mr. Beck is playing in tough luck, about the hardest luck of any person who intentionally defied authority and got into trouble. The terrible part about it all is that the circuit judge who has condemned him was the law partner of the late Senator LaFollette.

Under such fearful circumstances what possible explanation can be given? There is really only one explanation, the truthful one, the one that applies to this case and so many other similar cases. Judge Zimmerman has maintained the judicial integrity of the state. He has lived up to the people's idea of what a judge should be, one who is unaffected by anything but the facts and uninfluenced by anything but the law.

IF THE GOVERNMENT IS TO HELP IT NEEDS MORE PUNCH

We are not sufficiently acquainted with other federal projects to say whether the delay here in starting work on the new federal building is typical. If it is, we doubt whether the President would have been provoked to the construction as a means of relieving unemployment is of much service in the emergency unless he enters some new blood.

In this particular case the eight months' delay seems unexcusable. It grows out of the determination of someone to erect the new building on the site of the present federal structure. This is not a particularly good site in fact it is a very inadequate site, with the single virtue of being so valuable that if it had been sold the proceeds could have been devoted to run, heating a site two or three times the size somewhere between Jefferson avenue and the river—incidentally, a site with ample room for parking, without making a public garage of the sidewalks as is now done.

If another site had been selected, and work begun with dispatch last spring, not only would no question have arisen as to temporary quarters for the courts—which seems to be the nub of the current delay—but work that is sorely needed would have been provided the throughgoing in the months since. It would have been possible to avoid the distressing demands of reality owners, as cited feelingly by Mr. Heath of the Treasury, for higher rentals on temporary room than the government was willing to pay. In fact, the courts would have stayed where they are, and in due time moved into the new building on another site, without the trouble and expense of hiring temporary quarters. This latter saving, in turn, might have been devoted to some construction with corresponding benefit to the unemployed.

As a contract signer for the government, Mr. Heath is in the unenviable position of anyone subject to conflicting counsel and pressure from all sides. However, the present is an emergency, and the considerations that weigh so heavily with federal bureaucrats in ordinary times might better have been ignored. In fact, only by ignoring them can the administration hope to contribute in any large and timely degree to a solution of the unemployment problem.—The Detroit News

Here Is the Last Set of Predictions

Winner	Loser	Attendance
Northwestern	Purdue	59,000
Wisconsin	Michigan	26,000
Ohio State	Minnesota	20,000
Notre Dame	Army	50,000
Yale	Princeton	50,000

Weather: Midwest, warm and rainy; East, cold and rain.

—The Expert

The surprising Wisconsin-Michigan prediction, says the Expert, is based entirely on psychology. (In the first place, Michigan didn't want to play Wisconsin, partly because she wanted to play Northwestern and partly because she believes Wisconsin is not in the same class. Ed. note). Michigan's team, except for the coach, has not taken practice very seriously.

"Meanwhile," says the expert, "a very distinctive and ominous silence has settled over Camp Randall . . . the same silence that was noticeable before the Notre Dame upset in 1928, the Penn wedding in 1920 and the Purdue victory in 1921." (Wisconsin's unanimously acclaimed loser, won all three).

Well, we'll see. It's entirely possible that the Expert may be wrong on two out of the first three guesses.

But if Wisconsin beats Michigan . . . the entire population of this state should pause for one minute and blast out a Bronx cheer that'll be heard clear over to Ann Arbor.

THE OLD AND THE NEW WAY

Time was when a maiden had promised to wed and the question was settled, she blushing said:

"Before we can say when the wedding will be, Remember, my darling, there's father to see!" And so the next evening a stammering lad Went in to encounter a frozen-faced dad.

The father pretended he knew not at all Why the nervous young fellow had dropped in to call.

He sat there and eyed him from head down to toe, And waited the speech which somehow wouldn't flow.

He took off his glasses and grunted: "Well! Young man have you come here with something to sell?"

They had painted the father as someone to fear: With tales of his temper they'd poisoned his ear. Both mother and daughter had hinted of him That he was an ogre, ferocious and grim, Till it took all the courage a young fellow had To walk in and get the consent of her dad.

Today things are different. Each love-making lad Who enters the house scores the life out of dad. He knows if he raises his voice to demur An avowment is something that's apt to occur, And he knows against marriage 'tis vain to protest.

So he bows in submission and hopes for the best. (Copyright, 1931, Edgar A. Guest)

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, Nov. 30, 1906

Lawrence university had been endowed with $50,000 by the General Education Board of New York with funds donated by John D. Rockefeller, the oil magnate.

Herman Knips, Jr., was a guest of friends and relatives at Green Bay Thanksgiving day.

The Misses Elmer and Laura Roemer and Katherine Fraum were at Green Bay for Thanksgiving day.

Albert Christ and Edward Fuhrmann, students at the Milwaukee Medical college, spent the previous Thanksgiving at their homes in Appleton.

Miss Jennie Wharten left the preceding day for Milwaukee where she was to spend several weeks with Mrs. A. E. Jackson, and at Waukegan with Mrs. R. H. Simpson.

A number of neighbors and friends surprised Carl Wierick at his home at 926 Oneida-st. in honor of his birthday anniversary.

Harry J. Humphrey was a guest of friends at De Pere the previous day.

Edward Freneman was at Hilbert Junction on business the previous day.

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, Nov. 25, 1921

Marshall Felt was so tired by thousands on his arrival in St. Paul that night when the famous winter carnival was to be revived.

Miss Hattiea Bowers, sister clerk at the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul depot, left the previous day for a month's vacation which she was to spend with relatives and friends at Rockford and Rockland.

The marriage of Miss Baulah Hilton, Bruce, and Lawrence Streibauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Spielbauer, 511 Locust-st., took place at 9:30 the previous Wednesday morning at St. Mary's parsonage.

Miss Blanche J. St. Andrews, Kaukauna, and Fred Felix Wetzel were married at 7:30 the preceding Thursday morning in St. Mary parsonage by the Rev. W. J. Fitzmaurice.

The marriage of Miss Olga Marun, Milwaukee, to Clarence Jensen, son of Mrs. Anna Jensen, 750 Madison-st., took place at the home of the bride the previous day.

Application for a marriage license was made that day by Arnold Langlotz and Florence Hennings, Appleton.

Miss Alberta Schweitzer, who was attending the Academy of Fine Arts at Chicago, was spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schweitzer.

THE UBIQUITOUS PNEUMOCOCCUS

Like a more highly organized and quite creditable creature the Pneumococcus has no wings at all but nevertheless it just flies.

Recent tests have shown this germ in the blood of the patient within 12 hours after the initial chill of onset of the pneumonia. Unquestionably the germ invades the blood before the chill occurs. It is invasion of the blood by the pneumococcus germs that produces the chill—not the chill that causes pneumonia.

The Pneumococcus is kin to the notorious Streptococcus or septicemia, septic throat, blood poisoning. In the early stage or onset of any of these septic infections or chill or chills is quite the rule.

The finding of the Pneumococcus by blood culture does not prove the patient has pneumonia. The same germ has been found in the blood in many cases of—note this—tonsillitis, acute middle ear infection, acute arthritis. But the finding of the Pneumococcus in the blood, and the absence of other germs, does prove that the illness is caused by the Pneumococcus, or septic throat. These are but a few of the illnesses which are often caused by identical germ that causes acute pneumonia.

Some of our glib "drugless" healers, cut promoters and hanky-panky merchants occasionally scout the "germ theory" when holding forth on the nature and cause and cure of pneumonia and other respiratory diseases and confound the germ theory by demanding to know where the germs come from that cause the pneumonia of a lone trapper in his isolated cabin in the wilderness, or something like that. The answer is even simpler—such an isolated person never has pneumonia. It has never been known to happen, outside of story books.

The Pneumococcus is pretty much everywhere, but not of its own effort. No known disease germ can travel the thinnest fraction of an inch unless it is carried or conveyed by some animal agent. So far as we know the Pneumococcus is not naturally virulent that is, not naturally a cause of disease in animals. Man is probably the sole carrier. So it is that Pneumococcus disease or illness can occur only in the immediate environment of man.

Suppose a person harbored Pneumococci in his mouth constantly, as many of us do. Would such a person be able to get any Pneumococcal illness from his own Pneumococci? No. That too has never been known to happen. So if you've ever caught cold in the wet and cold and all alone you need not worry about getting pneumonia or anything as a result of the chilling or exposure so long as no one brings you a nice "start" or virulent Pneumococcus.

Pleurisy, appendicitis, acute peritonitis, acute pericarditis, acute endocarditis and valvular involvements and acute cornea and other examples of Pneumococcus infection in many cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Left-handedness

Some years ago I read in a book, I think a government pamphlet, that a left-handed child should not be compelled to use the right hand, because of the danger of stuttering. Recently I had to pass on the case of a school child compelled to use the right hand. Can you give me any help on this? (R. W.)

Answer:—It is a matter of opinion. I believe it is unwise to try to change a naturally left-handed child to right-handedness. But that does not imply that only the left hand should be used for writing or other skilled work. Rather encourage the child to use the hands ambidextrously.

In any case do not forbid the use of the left hand. This is merely my opinion. I believe forced change does bring on stuttering and other troubles in many instances. I know no good reason why a person should not be left-handed in everything. Neither the whims of teachers nor the notions of parents should determine the child's fate. Common sense should rule.

Chocolate Blamed

my fondness for chocolate had something to do with it. I cut out eating chocolate, or drinking it, and since that I have never had an attack. (E. V. D.)

An we.—There may be something in that, for certain persons. However, I believe I'd take migraine with my chocolate if I couldn't have it without. Of course it is obvious I've never had migraine.

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

THE fire soon was a smoldering mess and Puppy Cop said "Well, I guess a few more sprays of water will . . . go on thing all right. You boys . . . any you could do, and you make splendid firemen, too." "Oh, we've enjoyed it," Carpy said. "The fire was quite a sight."

"There's just one thing we want to ask, since we have helped out with this task." "What is it?" questioned Puppy Cop. "I'll answer, very quick. Now, don't be bashful. Speak right out and tell me what it's all about." Said Carpy, "If you answer right, it surely will be slick."

"We'd like to have a ride, you see, upon that small fire engine. Gee, we think it would be heaps of fun. Please tell us, yes or no. We'll sit as quiet as a mouse until we reach the wee fire house." Oh, hurry with your answer 'cause the engine's 'bout to go."

"Sure thing," of Puppy Cop replied. "We'll gladly let you have a ride. Each one of you can have a turn at driving from the seat. You'll find the fire house's not so wild, and the fire engine's not so hard on him, but be a bit discreet."

Then Clowzy very loudly roared, "I'm first to drive it. All aboard!" He hopped into the engine seat and then exclaimed, "Giddap!" The little dog began to run. Oh, my, but it was heaps of fun. He didn't jerk the reins, but held them loose.

ly in his lap.

The other Tynymites trailed along and listened to the shrill fire song. Soon Clowzy shouted, "Whoa!" and then he jumped down from the seat. "Now someone else can have a turn," said he. "It isn't hard to learn to drive this wee fire engine and the driving is a treat."

He opened his mouth, moved his jaws and a couple of words issued. Then nothing more would come out. "I was scared stiff," he told me. "Keene's brilliance and the fact that the governor was out there listening to me were enough to silence me."

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Almost two years ago to the day, a blunt spoken sailorman—Hugh Rodman—stood before a microphone in Washington and over a nation-wide radio hook-up said that he was four-square behind President Hoover in the effort to obtain parity for the American navy.

Today that same man has been named by the president as a member of the commission to investigate accusations that he has shown "abysmal ignorance" as to the needs of the navy.

Rodman, who spent 31 years of his active service on the water, and who until his retirement in 1923 seldom was seen out of uniform, mimes no words when he talks about the navy and its needs.

The phrases "malicious" and "bigoted tactics" punctuate his conversation when he starts talking about the navy.

"A second best navy," he says "is like a second best poker hand. You might as well expect a lame mule to win the Kentucky Derby as a country with a second best navy to win a war."

Friend of King George

Admiral Rodman since 1875 has been intimately connected with the sea. It was then that he left the blue grass section of Kentucky to enter the naval academy.

Since that time, up until his retirement, his career was a eventful one. Numbered among his close acquaintances were the rulers and officials of many lands.

While Rodman was serving as commander of the battleship division attached to the British fleet during the World war, he and King George of England became fast friends.

With Gestures

The story is told that on one of the frequent informal visits His Majesty paid to the Admiral's flagship the name of the Prince of Wales was mentioned.

Later, when the king was leaving, Rodman gave him a hearty slap on the back and said:

"You know, that's a mighty fine lad you have."

The king's face beamed with pride, though he was not accustomed to that form of address. After the incident, as verified by members of the admiral's staff who were present, the two became even better friends.

Frank Bell Again Saved From Chair

Gov. Emmerson Grants Stay
Two Hours Before Time
Set for Execution

Chicago—(P)—Frank H. Bell, convicted murderer, was saved once more from death in the electric chair.

Gov. L. L. Emmerson granted him a 30-day stay last night within two hours of the time set for his execution.

It was the second last minute stay for Bell, the first coming Oct. 15 just 35 minutes before he was to have marched to the death chamber.

The governor said he acted at the request of Murray W. Garsson, assistant secretary of the U. S. department of labor, who said he intervened on "purely personal grounds," and not in his official capacity.

The federal official said he believed Bell deserved some consideration because he "prevented a full break in which one or more of the attendants at the fall would have been wounded or killed."

The intercession of Garsson won Bell a respite which Warden David Moneyppenny, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and numerous others, had failed to procure.

Garsson, who is in Chicago to deport alien hoodlums, said he appeared before W. C. Jones of Streator, chairman of the state board of pardons and paroles, and asked that Bell be granted another hearing. Jones, whose board had turned a deaf ear to previous pleas, then conferred with the governor himself. Emmerson then called Warden Moneyppenny from Springfield, Ill., ordering the stay. No explanation accompanied the verbal order.

Bell, who had been told of the earlier executive announcement, refusing intervention, was in the death cell where he was permitted to receive his three sisters and his sweetheart, Helen Brown.

Bell won his first stay, Oct. 15, when his attorneys petitioned for a

Relief Fund Quiz Center In New York

New York—(P)—The administration of the city's ten million dollar fund for the relief of the unemployed came sharply today under the scrutiny of the Hofstadter committee.

Samuel Seabury, chief counsel for the legislative committee which is inquiring into charges of graft and crookedness in New York City, made public the names of 125 persons who he said received checks one week last June from the relief fund although there was nothing to indicate that any of the recipients had asked for relief.

The checks ranged from $5.00 to $10 and totaled slightly more than $2,000. There were several duplications in the list and many similarities of names, the counsel said. Several of the checks appeared to have been endorsed by the same persons and to have cleared through the same banks.

Names of the 125 persons had been certified to the comptroller by someone in the office of President Lynch of the Board of Richmond, Seabury said. The department of public welfare, which ordinarily would handle such matters, has no record of the 125 names, so far as Seabury could discover.

A few of those to whom checks were paid were located last night. All said they had had emergency relief jobs from the city, one of them said it was his understanding that the names of those employed were taken from the city's civil service list.

A large corps of attorneys and investigators is continuing its inquiry into every phase of city expenditures. At next Tuesday's public hearing the Hofstadter committee will hear the results of several weeks' investigation into the bank accounts of police officers.

Southern Illinois farmers received a total of 1,173 loans aggregating $169,234 from drought relief appropriations made by congress.

TURKEY SERVED AT POINT BARROW FOR 1ST TIME IN HISTORY

Point Barrow, Alaska—(P)—A Thanksgiving turkey was served yesterday for white residents of Point Barrow nearly 500 miles inside the Arctic circle—and old timers said they never knew of a turkey being brought to this settlement before.

At a dinner at the Presbyterian hospital, the handful of whites were the guests of Miss Lillie M. Bailey, the matron. Dr. Henry Griesel led a simple service of worship.

The turkey was brought here by dog teams from Nome, more than 500 miles away.

HINDU KILLED IN WEST. SUSPECT IS ARRESTED

Marrysville, Calif.—(P)—The strange unrest of California's two Hindu factions flared into gunplay last night, resulting in the death of one East Indian and the arrest of another.

The victim of the twenty-second Hindu killing in northern California in recent years was L. K. Marwaha, 34, also known as Lal Singh, the assistant second turn by the city and fired six bullets into his body.

The assailant, identified by the sheriff's office as Bhagat Singh, the proprietor of a motor car repair shop, was captured.

Bhagat Singh refused to talk. Authorities said they believed the killer thought Marwaha was giving information to immigration officers concerning illegal entry of Hindus into the United States.

Don't let a Cold Settle in your Bowels!

KEEP your bowels open during a cold. Only a doctor knows the importance of this. First a doctor to know best how it can be done. That's why Syrup Pepsin is such a marvel as help during colds. It is the prescription of a family doctor who specializes in bowel troubles. The discomfort of colds is always lessened when it is used; your system is kept free from the phlegm, mucus and acid wastes. The cold is "broken up" easily.

Whenever the bowels need opening, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sure to do the work. It does not gripe or sicken; but its action is thorough. It carries off all the souring waste and poisons; helps your bowels to help themselves.

Take a spoonful as soon as a cold starts, or the next time coated tongue, bad breath, or a bilious, headachy, easy condition warns of constipation. Give it to the children during colds or whenever they're feverish, cross or upset. It is harmless; contains only laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other helpful ingredients.

The way it tastes and the way it acts have made Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the largest selling laxative in all drugstores.

"I'll stand by it!"

"I'll stand by tobacco . . .
in good times, in hard times . . .
all kind of times . . . it helps a whole lot!"

"I GREW up with tobacco. Mostly I smoke cigarettes now—but I've smoked plenty of cigars, and pipes, too. And I never got anything but good from tobacco in any form—pipe, cigar, or cigarette—and that goes for every smoker I ever heard about.

"Why, I remember as a boy, way back, how the old folks in the fall used to pick and cure tobacco from a little patch they'd raised, and save out the best for their own smoking. And my father fought all through the war, and lived to be ninety.

"He'd certainly appreciate what we get today, though. Just think about these CHESTERFIELDS of mine—fine tobaccos from all over the world, and cured and blended just so; you couldn't get anything purer or milder. Cleanest factories you ever saw, too—never a hand touching the cigarettes . . . everything up to date.

"A big improvement over the old ways . . . reckon that's why I like CHESTERFIELDS so much. I notice most of my friends get a lot of pleasure out of them, too.*

"But what I started out to say was, you can always depend on tobacco, no matter how things are going. Probably there was never anything in the world that meant so much to so many people, and cost so little, as tobacco—whatever way they smoke it.

"Yes, sir—I'll stand up for tobacco as long as I can strike a match!"

*NOTE. In the sections where tobacco grows and where people know tobacco, Chesterfield is usually the largest-selling cigarette.

Church Body Planning To Hold Party

An Indian party will be given by Baptist Young People's Union of First Baptist church at 7:45 Friday night in the church parlors. Decorations will be in autumn colors, and a program of appropriate games, stunts, and music has been planned by the Fellowship commission of which Philip Johnson is chairman. Chaparrones will be the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Hasselblad, Harold Eads and Philip Johnson will be hosts, and Helen Jean Rabb and Gertrude Stark will be hostesses.

Mrs. Harold Pabb, 1104 N. Harrison, entertained the Friendship class of First Baptist church Wednesday night at her home. Fifteen members were present. Routine business was transacted and a social hour followed. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be the third Wednesday in December at a place to be decided.

The Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor of Emmanuel Evangelical church, will preach the sermon at the annual Thanksgiving service to be sponsored by the Women's Missionary society of the church at 10:30 Sunday morning at the church. The offering will be used for foreign missions. The choir will present several musical selections.

Christian Endeavor society of Memorial Presbyterian church will meet at 6:30 Sunday night at the church. Orvis Schmidt, a student at Lawrence college, will be the leader.

The Luther League of Trinity English Lutheran church will hold a devotional meeting at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the church. The business meeting will take place Tuesday evening at the home of Carl Roehl, 812 W. Summer st.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Theresa church will sponsor a candy and gift sale Dec. 4 at the parish hall. The sale will open at 2:30 in the afternoon and continue through the evening. Officers of the sodality will be in charge.

The mixed choir of St. Joseph church will meet for rehearsal at 8 o'clock Friday night at St. Joseph hall. Christmas music will be practiced. A lunch will be served after the rehearsal.

OPEN HOUSE FOR STUDENTS AT LAWRENCE

An "open house" at Russell Sage hall, upper-classwomen's dormitory, and a "cozy" at Hamar house sponsored by the Lawrence Women's association, provided entertainment Thursday afternoon for Lawrence college students who could not go home for Thanksgiving because of the short holiday.

About 50 couples attended the open house and tea dance at Russell Sage hall from 2:30 to 5:30 Thursday afternoon. Miss Grace Meyer was in charge of all arrangements for the party.

The "cozy" sponsored by the Women's association at Hamar house was attended by about 30 women. Miss Annette Heller, Appleton, was in charge of the program which consisted of informal entertainment. Refreshments were served.

MEMBERS OF DEMOLAY GO TO MEETING

Several members of John F. Rose chapter of Appleton are attending the two-day state convention of the Order of Demolay in Milwaukee Friday and Saturday. Alvin Wosher is the official delegate from the local chapter, and others attending are Chester Davis, Leonard Feavel, Ed Sanders and Leonard Burbanck. Election of state officers will be held and the place of the next convention will be announced. Among the social events on the calendar for the convention are a dinner and a dance Friday night. The Appleton delegation will return Saturday night.

Richest Bride

Princess Durru Shehvar, above, 18-year-old daughter of a former caliph of Turkey, has married Prince Azam Jah, oldest son of the Nizam of Hyderabad, who is reputed to be the richest man in the world. The Nizam's fortune in jewels and gold has been valued at more than $2,000,000,000.

PARTIES

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Guilfoyle, Kaukauna; and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Rimmel, Wrightstown.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ryan, 306 W. Prospect-ave, entertained Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brown and family of Wauwatosa at a Thanksgiving dinner at their home. The Brown and Ryan families spent 12 years together in Japan, where both Mr. Brown and Mr. Ryan were connected with the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Brown now is state boy's worker and physical director for the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cooke of Green Bay entertained 12 guests at dinner at Conway hotel Thanksgiving day. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Cooke of Kaukauna, the James A. and George G. Wood families and Miss Elizabeth Wilson of Appleton. After the dinner the group was entertained at the home of Miss Wilson.

Miss Emaline Bauman, N. Fair-st., entertained the T. N. T. Bridge club at a Thanksgiving party Wednesday night at her home. Bridge was played and prizes were won by Miss Lucille Lillge and Miss Evelyn Huss. Tables were decorated in Thanksgiving effects. Miss Lillge will be hostess to the club next Thursday at her home on E. Pacific-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tandere, route 5, Appleton, entertained a group of friends Thanksgiving day at their home in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. Cards were played and prizes won by Charles Bolte, Mrs. Fred Ruscher, Mrs. Eric Voigt, and Ferdinand Arnold. Thirty guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mathews, 529 N. Richmond-st., entertained several out of town guests over Thanksgiving at their home. Those present were Mr. Mathews' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mathews, Wauwatosa; and Miss Grace Mathews, Milwaukee.

Active members of Sigma Phi Epsilon held their Thanksgiving dinner at Hotel Northern Thursday noon. Arrangements were made by Edward West, president.

TWO FAMILIES AT REUNIONS

The thirty-fifth reunion of the Brokaw and Edmonds families was held on Thanksgiving day. Dinner was served to 23 members of the families from Appleton, Evanston, Wausau and Neenah at the Conway hotel, after which the group went to the home of Mrs. N. H. Brokaw, 219 S. Union-st., where the ninety-third birthday anniversary of Mrs. L. M. Edmonds was celebrated.

Officers Of C.D.A. Are Given Seats

INSTALLATION of officers for the coming year took place at the meeting of Catholic Daughters of America Monday night at Catholic home. A supper at 6:30 preceded the business meeting. Miss Ada Basing, Berlin, acted as installing officer.

The new officers include Miss Mabel Burke, grand regent; Miss Katherine Derby, vice grand regent; Miss Mary Rogers, prophetess; Miss Clara O'Connor, lecturer; Mrs. Grace Gossan, historian; Miss Margaret Goss, financial secretary; Miss Mayme Schweitzer, treasurer; Miss Dorothy DeJonge, sentinel; Mrs. Mary Nemacheck, monitor; Miss Alma Zipperer, pianist; Mrs. Frances Cooney and Mrs. Elizabeth Grogan, Kaukauna, trustees.

About 100 members attended the supper and ceremonies. An appropriation of $50 was voted to the city relief fund.

The court will receive Communion in a body at the 7:30 Mass Sunday morning at St. Mary church.

An informal meeting of Knights of Pythias was held Thursday night in the Pythian parlors. Eighteen members were present. Plans were discussed for the card party to be held Saturday night at the hall under the direction of Robert O. Schmidt and Charles Young.

MISS DUNN AND GEORGE BECK, JR. WED AT CHURCH

Miss Ellen Dunn, 1125 W. Lawrence-st., and George Beck, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Beck, Sr., 1124 W. Lawrence-st., were married at 10:15 Thursday morning at St. Joseph church. Miss Leola Dunn, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Walter Beck, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. A wedding breakfast was served at the Beck home to the immediate families, covers being laid for 17 persons. After a wedding trip of about a week, Mr. and Mrs. Beck will make their home at 1125 W. Lawrence-st. Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Derfus, Milwaukee; and Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderloop, Little Chute.

MISS BRINKMAN BECOMES BRIDE OF FRED KESTING

The marriage of Miss Ella Brinkman, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Brinkman, 808 N. Division-st., to Fred Kesting, son of Charles Kesting, route 5, Appleton, took place at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the parsonage of Zion Lutheran church. The Rev. Theodore Marth performed the ceremony. The couple was unattended. After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Kesting will reside on route 5.

ANOTHER "RAP"

Houston, Tex.—When Detectives found a man sprawled on a curb and arrested him for intoxication, he told them he wasn't worried a darn bit. "I've been arrested 33 times and only served one prison term," he said. "One more time won't hurt me." The detectives made it "two prison terms."

COMMISSION TO MEET

The water commission will meet at 115 next Tuesday afternoon in the city hall. Monthly reports will be reviewed.

Southern Illinois peach growers are seeking lower rates on peaches shipped to eastern markets.

SCHOOL BAND WILL PLAY AT THIRD VESPER

The third vesper service of the pre-holiday series will be presented at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon by the high school band under the direction by Prof. E. C. Moore.

The more outstanding numbers of the concert will be the overture "Oboe" by C. M. von Weber, which was first produced in 1825 at the Covent Garden theatre in London under the direction of its composer. Other numbers to be played by the band are "Andante Cantabile" by Tschalkowsky, "Pilot Me" Barhouse, and "The Klaxon" by Filmore.

The second movement, "Andante Cantabile," from Tschalkowsky's "Fifth Symphony" was written in 1888.

The sacred paraphrase of "Pilot Me," a transcription of the old hymn which was written directly for a modern symphonic band and is well calculated to show up the qualities of each section. The composer, C. L. Barnhouse, was an American who did much for the band movement in this country.

Miss Lucille Wichmann will present a clarinet solo, "Scene and Air" from "Luisa di Montfort" by M. Bergson.

The vesper will close with a stirring march, "The Klaxon" by H. Filmore, without which no band concert is complete.

MISS BREHMER IS MARRIED TO APPLETON MAN

Miss Meta Brehmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brehmer, Collins, and Otto Hankemeyer, route 1, Appleton, Chicago, were married at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom. The Rev. Elonard Kasper, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church, Greenville, performed the ceremony. Attendees were Mrs. A. Fregin, Chicago, sister of the bridegroom, and E. Brehmer, brother of the bride. A reception for relatives was held at the Hankemeyer farm after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hankemeyer will make their home on route 1, Appleton.

Find Reason When Child Falls Behind

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I am sorry to say that William is not doing his best. He is very lazy. Unless he does better he will not be promoted this term. Truly yours, The Teacher."

"I am sorry to report that William's work for the month has shown no improvement. Unless he picks up the next two weeks he cannot pass. Will you try to see that he studies more? Yours truly, The Teacher."

"I am sorry to have to say that William has been left back. He could have done the work but he was too indifferent, too lazy, didn't concentrate enough. We hope that he will do better next term. Truly yours, The Teacher."

Mother lay down the latest letter and looks severely at William. "So, well, it's no more than I expected. All term we have kept after you to do your work. Now this is the result. You're left back. You can't blame anybody but yourself. We all told you that laziness would never get you anywhere. What's to be done about such a lazy child I'm sure I don't know. Why don't you work?"

"I do work. I work as hard as anything. She never explains anything. If I ask her she says, 'I'm working. Don't you see I'm busy?' 'Put your hand down when I'm asking. Ask your questions after school.' And after school you can't let her. Then I'm blamed for it."

"Of course you're blamed for it. Who else? I'd like to know. You're the only one that can do anything about it. You have to help your self."

Of all the injustices a child can suffer, this is about the worst. When he falls behind his class there is a reason. Laziness is not that reason. Laziness is a symptom of a condition, not the cause. It is a danger signal that we must heed. Instead of sitting back calmly and judiciously pronouncing a child lazy, we might as better go to work to find the seat of the difficulty.

Sometimes there is nothing wrong but a break in the child's progress. He has lost some work, missed a few points, failed to master a fundamental principle. That is easy to alter. A few pointed lessons and his troubles are over. He awakens into life and activity.

Sometimes the child is not well graded. He is too high for his powers and fails to master the lessons, or he is too low and has no interest

X-Ray Reveals New Clues To Health Of Human Race

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—An intensely practical wonderland which the "eye" of the X-ray has revealed in the past year will be described by about 200 experts at a five day meeting of the Radiological Society of North America beginning here Monday.

In this wonderland are numerous new views of man's internal economy including pictures which catch disease near its start and guide medical men toward measures of prevention. Among the things which radiologists say can be seen are sources of coughs and of gas poisoning and beginnings of human life long before birth.

A symposium into some of the general uses of X-rays will be conducted by the United States Bureau of Standards. Another section will tell of work in the fixed Nitrogen Research laboratory at Washington. Medical subjects will include usefulness of radiation for children, for nerves, cancer and the heart.

A report will be made on the largest X-ray in practical use, the recently installed 900,000-volt tube at Memorial hospital in New York City. This and other tubes nearly as powerful have led to means of protecting persons nearby from the tremendously penetrating rays.

Developments in radium, both real and artificial, will be explained. The big X-ray tubes send out "gamma" rays which seem to act about the same as radium, and which are applied in them. A shift of grade settles that.

Perhaps he has some hidden difficulty that only the expert physician can discover. Have him examined and see. If he lacks an essential secretion, if he has an out and out defect, if there is anything wrong with his body the experts can help adjust it or cure it, and he can take his place with the healthy active children.

Don't accept laziness as a reason for school deficiency. Every teacher knows better than that. The lazy child is in trouble. Help him remedy his ills and he will do the rest. Healthy children are active. Lazy children are sick.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1931 NEA SERVICE, INC.

As Corinne's voice asked Sue why she was telephoning to Arnold Page Sue's mind started to race frantically. Jack, too, was at the door. He had heard her call. She had to have a reason.

But she couldn't tell them that she had a vague idea that Arnold Page and Nancy Becker had meant something to each other at one time. That there was an emotional hang-over even now. She had to say something!

"He heard about the crash and called. I was to let him know how everything is. Nothing but friendly sympathy. He really wanted you," Sue explained to Jack.

Then she wondered why she had lied. Why she would have to explain to Arnold Page. And he would be annoyed because she had meddled.

Jack nodded. "Page and Nancy used to go around together some times before he went away," he said. "Still interested, I suppose."

"Oh how romantic! A scene from the cinema itself," Corinne's voice drawled. "Don't go getting sentimental thoughts about it. Nancy is the type who gets amused by men but doesn't tumble. Try to dent her heart. It can't be done."

"But her bones are now," Jack said, "and if we don't quiet down she'll be likely to make an impression on us when she gets well." He put firm hands on Corinne's shoulders and gently pushed her from the room. "There, now! Let's have a truce till morning! No more tragedies!"

When he turned around his eyes were serious, though. "Sue, why did you call Arnold Page? That reason you gave wasn't true. My dear, as a liar you haven't even amateur rating!"

Sue laughed and sat down by him on the chaise longue at the foot of the bed.

"I went romantic, Jack. I thought Nancy and Arnold Page used to like each other. And I found some proof that they still do." Very quickly she told him about the picture in the portfolio. When she finished Jack nodded.

"Arnold's a proud sort of chap. He might resent any interference. And Nancy did choose the gold bags, didn't she? There isn't anything you can do. You would just dig up some thing that's over. The chances are that neither one would get a ghost of a thrill out of the other today but people hang on to dreams just for the fun of it, you know. Sort of wondering how this or that would have been. You know."

He looked at her for understanding. Sue shook her dark head and her clear blue eyes were serious.

"No, I don't know, Jack. I got what I want."

"So did I! I wasn't thinking about us. We're different." His arms slipped around her. He buried his face against the blue black fragrance of her hair.

But Sue was wondering if he might sometimes wonder if Barbara had been an illusive golden shadow. If he would forget the pettiness and jealousy she had practiced and see just the shining hair and the vibrant voice. But that was foolish! Hadn't he married her, she asked herself?

She forgot about Barbara late the next afternoon when she took Jack's car and drive out to the house which was being put in order for them.

It was low and spreading. The sort of a house that seemed perfectly satisfied to stay in the place where it lived. It was comfortable. The workmen were gone.

Sue walked around, singing under her breath, just because she was happy. She started upstairs, then stopped. She had caught sight of a shadow.

Box Plaits

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

The little jacket dress is so smart for school wear. Particularly if it's fashioned of one of the new soft woolsens.

The jacket is the simple box type that rolls its collar in revers.

The dress with box-plait effect at the back of the skirt as well as at the front provides excellent opportunity for contrast in its yoked bodice.

Louisville — at least one turkey escaped the ax. Roy L. Miller said he put it in the bathtub to await execution, but that during the night the bird, in struggling to get free, turned on the faucet handle and was drowned.

LEAVE SISTER LONE TO FIND OWN HAPPINESS—ADVICE TO HAPPY DUMBBELL

Dear Virginia Vane: My sister and I have always been devoted to each other and her happiness has meant everything to me. I married two years ago and have been perfectly happy ever since. I have a lovely home and my friends are the nicest in the world. My husband and I belong to a crowd who are always together and everything would be perfect but for the fact that my sister doesn't fit into the new picture at all. She doesn't make friends with my friends—she doesn't get along with my husband. She won't take the trouble to dress herself up to be attractive to the crowd, etc., etc. She is always hobnobbing with artists and cheap writers and people who look as if they didn't know where their next meal was coming from. I want to help her. I want her to be a part of my new life but I don't know what to do about it.

CORA G.

Leave the little sister alone. Don't try to make her part of an environment which doesn't suit her. You happen to have landed on your feet. You're perfectly happy where you are. I yourself now. But it obviously doesn't suit the other member of the family and you must know well give up worrying about it at once.

If you go on trying to force her to be something she isn't—and something she doesn't want to be, you'll spoil the beautiful relationship which has existed between you for so many years. Your constant suggestions and hints will begin to irritate her. Your desire to make her a part of your picture will make her over-critical of her and you'll see flaws in her which actually don't exist.

No, face the thing squarely. You two are going to live different lives. She has a different taste for friends. She'll go her own way now and you must go yours, and not try to bring her with you. It's hard for you to

MILLER CORDS WHIP JERSILD KNITS, 24 TO 21

Appleton Team Holds Slight Advantage Throughout Contest

Neenah — The Appleton Miller Cords professional basketball team, defeated the Neenah-Jersild Knits Thursday evening, 24 to 21, in the first game played at S. A. Cook armory this season. Approximately 500 witnessed the game.

The game started with Biggers making two free throws for Appleton. Nielsen then scored a field goal, and Laird duplicated the trick, putting the Cords six points in the lead. Rummel went in for Madsen at forward; Jorgensen raised a free throw and a free throw followed by a free throw by Rummel. Foster was first to make a field goal with Rummel following with a free throw. Foster scored again with a field goal, with Laird closing the first quarter with a field goal and a free throw, placing the score at 9 to 4 at the end of the quarter.

Gaertner went in for Jorgensen, placing Jersild in center, and Gaertner at forward. Biggers was first to score in the second quarter with a field goal. Rummel scored two free throws; Nielsen missed a free throw; Jersild scored two points as Jorgensen returned to the game in place of Rummel. Three field goals in succession, Gaertner making two and Jorgensen one, closed the half with the score at 15 and 12 still in the Cords' favor.

The third quarter opened with Laird finding the ring, followed by another basket by Gaertner. Foster missed a free throw but Steinberg scored on a field goal; Pierce missed a free throw; Neubauer missed one but completed the second. Steinberg finished the scoring of the quarter with a field goal. Johnson went in for Neubauer and Rummel returned in place of Gaertner as the quarter ended, 22 to 15, for Appleton.

Foster opened the last quarter with a field goal with Hotchkiss trailing close with a field goal. Foster missed a free throw, but Steinberg scored on a field goal; Pierce missed a free throw; Neubauer missed one but completed the second. Steinberg finished the scoring of the quarter with a field goal. Johnson went in for Neubauer and Rummel returned in place of Gaertner as the quarter ended, 22 to 15, for Appleton.

Neenah's team, under management of Mitchell Johnson, showed up well for the first game. With Foster and Hotchkiss leading the playing and Jorgensen, Neubauer, Rummel, Madsen and Gaertner following right into their old time speed, the local team put up a fast and hard fought game with the visitors.

COUNCIL FACES BUDGET ACTION

Aldermen Expected to Discuss Expenditures for Next Year

Menasha — The proposed 1932 budget for Menasha may be considered by the common council next Tuesday evening, according to Mayor N. G. Remmel. A tentative outline of budget requirement will be prepared by city officials and discussed by aldermanic committees in the city offices Monday evening, it is expected.

An appeal for the cooperation of aldermen and their committees in the preparation of a budget that would limit the burden on city taxpayers as much as is reasonably possible during the coming year was made by Mayor Remmel at the council meeting Nov. 17. Explaining conditions existing and expected in the city, Mayor Remmel said 1932 taxes must not be higher and should be lower if possible.

In addition to the work which may be done on the budget, a considerable amount of routine business will receive aldermanic attention next Tuesday. A report on the proposed extension of the fifth-st. grading project asked on necessary property is expected from the board of public works.

MALOUF, RALEIGH WIN SWEEPSTAKES

Menasha — Michael Malouf and Walter Raleigh, scoring a 1,320 pin total, took first place in a doubles sweepstakes on Hendy alleys Thursday. Raleigh scored singles games of 238, 220, and 217 for a 675 series while Malouf was credited with a 650 total and single games of 186, 213, and 279 pins.

RECEIVE REPORT ON RELIEF MEASURES

Menasha — A lengthy report on the unemployment relief measures under way in Milwaukee was received today by Mayor N. G. Remmel and will be turned over to the Menasha unemployment relief committee. The report, compiled by O. E. Ellis, assistant secretary of the Milwaukee city service commission, indicated that

RADIO GROUP TO FIGHT FURTHER RESTRICTIONS

Broadcasters Announce Program of Opposition to New Laws

MY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—With the congressional vanguard already congregated in Washington, the National Association of Broadcasters today announced a campaign of vigorous opposition to legislation which would "further restrict the operations" of broadcasting stations.

Adopting a program of procedure for the coming year, the executive committee of the association considered means of putting into effect the score of resolutions adopted by the convention of the broadcasters held in Detroit in October. The committee meets for two days.

Rumblings already heard around Capitol Hill that two bills having to do with radio which were blocked at the last session will be reintroduced, apparently, have stirred the broadcasters into action. These are the so-called Fess bill, which provides for the allocation of 15 percent of the 99 broadcasting channels now used by commercial stations to educational institutions and the Vestal copyright bill, providing for automatic copyright. Either bill, the broadcasters contend, would wreck the present system if enacted in its original form.

The latter measure has a direct bearing on the payment of copyright fees by broadcasters to the "copyright owners," with whom the radio public is simply familiar.

The sessions of the past two days were presided over by Henry A. Belows, Minneapolis, vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting system chairman.

THREE MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY HURT IN TWO ACCIDENTS

A son and a daughter of Mrs. Constant Gauthier, Little Chute, were injured on their way home to spend Thanksgiving with her Wednesday night, and another son was injured yesterday when he fell from a step ladder at his home at Oconto Falls.

Miss Frances Gauthier, a supervisor at the Johnson City hospital in Milwaukee, and her brother Leo, a section foreman for the Chicago and North-western railroad at Fox Point, were injured last night when the car in which they were driving to Little Chute skidded in loose gravel near Sherwood. The car turned over, and was badly wrecked. They are confined to St. Elizabeth hospital.

The injuries to Paul Gauthier, who lives at Oconto Falls, are not known.

with radio legislation will be notified that the association desires to be heard at any hearing during which bills affecting the industry are considered, it was announced.

A more intensive study of international broadcasting problems, with particular reference to the proposal that certain of the long waves be opened for broadcasting to "avoid congestion in the wave-lengths and to appease the demands of both Mexico and Canada for additional wave lengths, was authorized by the executive committee. The association's board of directors will be asked at the next meeting to authorize a delegate from the association to attend the International Radio Telegraph conference to be held at Madrid in Sept. 1932, at which this proposal will be made by European nations.

Point Out Danger
Should the Fess bill be adopted, the committee held, it would mean that congress would undertake to allocate frequencies and, in effect, usurp the powers it already has vested in the federal radio commission. A serious precedent would be established and the way would be opened for other special interests—religious, fraternal and otherwise—to demand similar treatment from congress. Thus, they contend, the whole broadcast structure would be undermined.

Pet Monkey Takes Up Chess; Also Goes In For Laundering

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Hollywood—(CPA)—Mingo has some idea of the laundry business. Mingo, one of the liveliest members of the film colony, is the little monkey brought from Sumatra to the James Gleason family a year ago by Caladette Gilbert. Few conversations in Hollywood at the moment are complete without mention of the latest trick which Mingo has pulled.

"That monkey," Lucille Webster Gleason said today, "is perfectly crazy about the laundry. He simulates for the morning when she arrives at the house and he hangs about the laundry from the moment she gets there till she departs. They talk to each other all the time and Mingo has profited by the conversations."

"Anyway, this room when Mary Ellen was busy washing, I saw Mingo skipping about the garden collecting the big yellow leaves that have fallen to the ground. Then he disappeared for a minute to reappear with the wash basin in which he gives himself a bath every morning."

He took the basin and the leaves to the door of the laundry, watched her enter a moment and set to work. Don't believe it if you don't want to—I have witnesses though—but that monkey would pick up a big leaf, wash it like anything in the basin and shake it out and lay it aside. He had a pile of laundered leaves a couple of inches thick.

"He's taking up chess too. I suppose he's seen Jummie and Russell playing chess now and then. Mingo sits at the tiled table in the garden, his head on his hand, and moves leaves from square to square by the hour. I tell you, the critter's human."

You suggested that very likely Mingo would go into the movie. But Mrs. Gleason shook her head.

"He loves to 'show some' she explained, "and a splashy comedy is out. Mingo reached Hollywood too late. In my opinion, the last pie has been thrown."

SCOUT LEADERS MEET FOR TRAINING COURSE

"The Project Method and Scout Training Projects," and "Troop Program Building" were the topics discussed by Donald Russell, scoutmaster of Troop C, Menasha, and M. G. Clark, valley scout executive at the weekly session of the Appleton district held Wednesday evening. Approximately 40 leaders attended. Carl Williams, Oshkosh council, staged an exhibit on handicraft work.

The project method of education as applied to a scouting program of wholehearted purposeful activity, a method of conducting a troop in such a manner that the scouts themselves do, to as large an extent as practical, their own thinking, planning, initiating, executing, judging and examining under the wise guidance of a trained leader, was pointed out.

other forms of outdoor amusement. He valued them at $300. One of them was a pure white pony and was an especial pet.

John Eisner, resident of the town of Union for many years, died at the home of Albert Luckjahn as a result of a long illness. He was 61 years of age. Funeral services were held at St. Mark's Lutheran church, Symco, Monday afternoon, the Rev. G. H. Kutzmann officiating. Interment was in the Nichols town cemetery.

Mr. Eisner is survived by his widow, four children, Mrs. Adolph Zollbrecht of Clintonville, Mrs. Herman Blatz of Milwaukee, Mrs. Erwin Handrich of Manawa, Albert Eisner of Helvetia, seven step-children and a large number of grandchildren.

Cars belonging to Mayford Terrio, Arthur Stevens, Louis Geske, and a truck owned by Charles Werth, driven by his son, Leo, 17, were badly damaged at the Jensen three-corners north of Manawa, Monday morning. No one was injured. All the machines were headed towards this place.

The Geske and Stevens cars were parked side by side on the highway with the former on the outside, while the owners converted Terrio, whose car had a trailer attached, moved into the center of the two automobiles and as he did so, the Werth truck also attempted to go by.

The truck struck the trailer of the Terrio car and apparently swerved sharply to the right to crash into both the other machines. The trailer of the Geske car was crushed and the cars were damaged, the Werth truck and Stevens automobile getting the worst of the collision.

Fire caused by a defective chimney destroyed the residence just south of Manzawa owned by Lyle Haight, morning. The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Shepard. Most of their household furnishings were saved.

SUGGUMBS AT VALDEZ

Special to Post-Crescent.
Chilton.—Mrs. Johanna McCarthy, 79, died Wednesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Johnson, near Valders after an illness of eight months. Born in the town of Maple Grove, she moved to Nebraska after her marriage to John McCarthy. The couple remained in Nebraska for 40 years before returning to Wisconsin. After her husband's death 14 years ago, Mrs. McCarthy moved to Chilton, Wis., where she lived until this year.
She is survived by three sons, John of Clark's Mills, Raymond of Manitowoc, and Donald of Milwaukee; five daughters, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Otto Wagner of Chilton, Mrs. Neil McCully of Manitowoc, Mrs. Arthur Murphy of Chilton, and Mrs. Verne Johnson of Valders; and one brother, Thomas Caravanah of Nebraska.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Mary church at Clark's Mills. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery there.

VISIT IN STOCKBRIDGE

Stockbridge—Mr. and Mrs. William Hemauer have completed a new home on their farm and are busy moving into it. It is a modern two story frame structure.

The Rev. and Mrs. William Mason visited friends at Glen Beulah and Greenbush Tuesday.

Miss Joyce Larsen of Neenah has been visiting at the Perry Larsen home.

Mrs. Tost Homer of Lincoln, Neb., is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herman Joss.

Miss Nertle Weichman of Fond du Lac spent a few days this week at the Oscar Pilling home.

Jake Hertel of Milwaukee called on old neighbors and friends in the village on Monday.

Merle Phillips and Ellis Johnson were callers in Green Bay on Monday.

NUMBER OF ARCH

LAUNCH 1931 YULE OPENING THIS EVENING

1,040 20-watt Colored Lights Installed on College--ave for Evening

Appleton has donned its festive garments, and this evening the 1931
Christmas season, will be formally launched. With a little snow in the streets and more promised during the next 24 hours, Appleton merchants are confident the trade event will be one of the most successful in the city's history.

College-ave will be a blaze of colored lights this evening. Both sides of the avenue from the Armory G to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad crossing have been decorated with 1,040 twenty watt lamps. There are 20 green, red and yellow lights between each pair of lamp poles.
The decorations were completed on Thanksgiving day.

Most merchants already have completed their store decorations. Toys and other merchandise once more have taken the place in display windows, and store fronts are trimmed with Christmas trees and other decorations.

According to J. Edward Murphy, chairman of the special Christmas opening committee of the chamber of commerce retail division, nothing is being left undone to make this year's Christmas event outstanding.

Every merchant on College-ave has been requested to cooperate by decorating stores and display windows, and thus far most of them have responded, he says. The trade event will continue Saturday. It is expected Saturday will be the banner day.

As in former years merchants have adopted the "shop early and avoid the rush" slogan. They point out that there are only 21 shopping days before Christmas, and that following the annual custom stores will close at 5 o'clock Thursday evening, Dec. 24.

LIVESTOCK SHOW TO TOP RECORDS

More Entries Than Ever Before at International,
Opening Tomorrow

Chicago — (AP)—Agriculture put on its best bib and tucker today and drove in to the International Livestock show.

The exposition doors at the stockyards open tomorrow on the largest array of farm products ever assembled. More than 15,000 horses, cattle, sheep and swine have been stabled. Entries have surpassed all records. Grain and hay exhibits have topped the 5,000 mark.

Too, more 4-H club boys and girls than ever before will vie for honors.
Barney H. Heide, exposition manager, attributed the record entries to hard times on the farm.

"More than ever before," Heide said, "the farmer needs the few or many dollars awaiting him in award exhibits and the chances are many for large returns. By bringing their livestock here, farmers benefit in the high bidding for prize carcasses."

Today was homecoming about the exposition grounds.

Walter Biggar of Dalbeattie, Scotland, returned again to pick the grand champion steer. Biggar's father picked the exposition champions more than a decade ago. His son, too, has attained fame as a cattle judge.

Herman Trelle of Wembley, Alberta, enthroned last year as America's wheat king, was back again, loaded down with more prized hoopers of grain.

W. L. Carline, manager of the prize of Wales' Canadian ranch, will be an onlooker.

Preliminary to Saturday's inaugural, the non-collegiate livestock judging was set for today between 4-H club teams from 13 states.

Judging in all classes will begin early Saturday morning and the champion steers will be picked Tuesday.

PINCHOT REPLY TO DAVIS CHALLENGE AWAITS HIS RETURN

Milford, Pa. — (AP)—Senator James Davis must wait a few days for an answer to his letter to Governor
Pinchot offering to give all his and Mrs. Davis' income to unemployment relief if the Governor and Mrs.
Pinchot would follow suit.

The senator made his proposal in a letter made public Wednesday night in answer to previous overtures from the governor. Mr. Pin-chot, spending the weekend here, said last night that he would not see the Davis letter until he returned to Harrisburg Monday.

"Until I see it, I have no comment to make," he said.

Senator Davis opened negotiations recently with a proposal the governor lend $1,000,000 to the state unemployment relief fund. Mr. Pinchot replied he believed a better plan was for both he and Mr. Davis to give a large percentage of their incomes to the fund.

In answer to this Senator Davis wrote a lengthy letter in which he declared he and Mrs. Davis were both ready to give all their incomes to the cause provided Governor and Mrs. Pinchot would match the action.

MAIL FRAUD CONVICT IS CALLED BY DEATH

James A. Connolly Victim of Acute Indigestion in New York

New York — (AP)—James A. Connolly, former St. Paul securities dealer who was recently sentenced to ten years in Atlanta penitentiary for mail fraud, died in the federal house of detention of acute indigestion last night.

Connolly, sports patron and former police reporter for a Minneapolis paper, was acquitted in 1922 of disposing of the $1,200,000 loot of General Chapman, New York mail truck robber.

A year ago last September an indictment was found against Connolly by the federal grand jury charging him with selling securities to two New York brokerage houses in the knowledge that those securities were stolen property.

His trial opened here in January of this year. Among the witnesses against him were cashiers of robbed banks and brokers from all parts of the country. On Feb. 2 he was found guilty of mail fraud.

Connolly had been held at his own request in the house of detention pending his appeal from conviction and sentence. The appeal was argued last week. With the other prisoners he partook of a Thanksgiving dinner of baked Virginia ham spinach and eggs, his and accompanies yesterday afternoon. He was reported ill at 9:30 and a physician was summoned. He died a half hour later.

Connolly was taken into custody to St. Paul and St. Louis to defend himself in legal proceedings there some months ago. He conferred with attorneys and practically directed the move made in his own defense. He was married before returning east. It was said at the federal building.

LAVAL EFFORTS IN U. S. GIVEN DEPUTIES O. K.

Chamber Approves Trip on Three Individual Votes of Confidence

Paris—(AP)—The trip of Premier Pierre Laval to Washington today stood stamped with the approval of the French Chamber of Deputies, over the criticism of the opposition, by a majority larger than the best the government had expected.

The chamber early this morning, on three separate confidence votes, sustained M. Laval by majorities ranging from 45 to 175. A margin of 30 votes was the most the government had looked for.

It was the chamber's first expression since the premier's detailed report of his Washington trip. The debate had lasted several days.

Opposition criticism included every phase of the premier's foreign policy, including war debts, the Hoover moratorium, disarmament and also the visit to Chancellor Brüning at Berlin.

Throughout the grueling fire, M. Laval maintained unruffled composure and good humor. He told the chamber his Washington trip had been the best possible propaganda, because it resulted in clearing up some misunderstandings about France in the minds of the people of the United States.

"They no longer think," M. Laval said, "that France wants to dominate other peoples. They know what sacrifices we have made in behalf of disarmament. They no longer suspect us. For they know France is thinking only of maintaining her own security."

His government, he said, is committed to settlement of German war debts by direct negotiations between creditors and debtors. Leon Blum, socialist deputy, had advocated linking these private debts with other matters in the inquiry which is to be made by the World Bank for International Settlements in Germany's capacity to pay.

Many Contributions Of Clothing For Indigents

Contributions in the Appleton Welfare and Relief council clothing drive are coming from as far as Black Creek, Mrs. Paul Hackbert, chairman, said today. One woman drove 16 miles to bring a car full of coats, dresses, underwear, and stockings for Appleton's needy.

A long list of addresses has already been left with Mrs. Hackbert and her committee and tomorrow the Boy Scouts will make a house-to-house canvass to secure additional offers. On Saturday city trucks will be sent out to collect the contributions, and on Monday the store-room in the basement of Hotel Northern will be opened. All clothing will be carefully fumigated over the weekend, so they will be ready for distribution Monday morning. The clothes will be given out only to those persons who hold requisition notices from the welfare council.

The committee workers point out that any type of clothing of all sizes, are acceptable. Coats, underwear, shoes and stockings are particularly needed, but the council will find a place for anything from rubbers to old stockings caps.

Anyone having clothes to donate to the needy is asked to call Mrs. Hackbert.

FINDS PROSPERITY IS GROWING ON PACIFIC

San Francisco—(AP)—High prosperity exists in San Francisco, compared to Atlantic seaboard cities, according to Frank A. Seiberling, president of the Seiberling Tire and Rubber company of Akron, Ohio.

The tire magnate, taking a swing around the country, stopped here last night. He has visited 31 cities thus far.

"Things grew better the further west I traveled," he asserted. "When I reached San Francisco, it appeared as if hard times had almost disappeared."

NINTH GRADE STUDENT WINS SONG CONTEST

James Abbey, ninth grade student at Rosevelt junior high school, was chosen winner of the school song contest this week among 16 other contestants. Miss Rachel Owen and Miss Mildred Blunder, both ninth graders, received honorable mention.

The songs were judged by a committee of four including Jay I. Williams, chairman and supervisor of instrumental music in the schools, Principal A. G. Oosterhouse, Leo Gardiner, faculty member, and Dr. Earl Baker, director of music.

The song is written to the melody of the state song, "On Wisconsin." It will be adopted by the student body and used as the Rosevelt junior high school song to be sung at student assemblies and programs. These are the words:

Rosevelt high school, Rosevelt high school
That's the school we love;
In the winter, in the summer, under sides above;
Rosevelt high school, Rosevelt high school
One we hold so dear—
From the seventh through the ninth grade
We'll all cheer.

ANNOUNCE CHANGE IN AIR MAIL SCHEDULE

Effective Tuesday, Dec. 1, the U. S. mail plane will leave Appleton at 4:20 in the afternoon instead of 4:50. It was announced this morning by Postmaster Emmery Greenke. Air mail will be received at the post office up to 3:50 in the afternoon. Instead of 4:20, the old schedule. The plane will continue to leave here for Green Bay at 11:45 in the morning with the mail closing at the postoffice at 11:15.

BROWNIES TO MEET

Brownies will meet at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Playhouse under the direction of Miss Dorothy Calhoun, Girl Scout director. The Brownie pack is a junior organization of scouts for girls from 7 to 10 years of age.

LEGION HOLDS DANCING PARTY AT DARBOY HALL

Darboy—Following several busy weeks of cleaning, painting and repairing at the Legion clubhouse, the Leo Van Roy post of the American Legion entertained their wives, sisters and friends at a dancing party at their hall Wednesday evening.

A new enclosed porch was added to the building, an old shed removed from the grounds and the outside of the building painted thus greatly improving the appearance of the place.

The Harrison Star Grange held their regular semi monthly meeting here Friday evening. At their next meeting on Dec. 4 election of officers will take place and arrangements will be made for the annual Christmas party to be given on Dec. 18.

Mrs. George Schwalbach of Darboy and Steve Renn of Kaukauna are visiting Joe Renn at Harrison, who is ill.

Miss Anna Probst entertained a few friends at her home Sunday evening. Cards furnished the amusement.

Mrs. Margaret Van Vorst and Mrs. Hannah Fischer entertained a number of friends at their home Thursday afternoon at a 5 o'clock dinner, preceded by cards. Guests were Mrs. Margaret Schwalbach, Mrs. Henry Schwalbach, Mrs. Rueben Schmalz, Mrs. John Dietzen, Mrs. George Schwalbach, Mrs. John Fischer, Mrs. Joe Van Groll, Mrs. Hugo Wittmann and daughters, Betty Jane and Lois, Mrs. Henry Hupfaut, Mrs. Gertrude Van Groll and Mrs. George Schaefer.

A special pre-holiday showing of LANE Cedar Chests

Here indeed is beauty, fragrance, value, all combined with qualities found in no other cedar chest . . . yet costing you nothing extra.

What finer gift for her than a cedar chest from you? . . . a chest with a splendid hardwood exterior matching her other fine furniture . . . and whose fragrance is lasting . . . a LANE!

Select one for your sweetheart, mother, sister, wife. Buy one for yourself. For its beauty . . . its ornamentality . . . its convenience. But make sure it is a LANE, the only certified Aroma-tight chest.

No cedar chest is better than its cedar aroma. The aroma is what protects the contents from moth damage. To be effective, it must be dense. And it must be held in the chest. In other words, the chest construction must be air-tight.

The Lane Company has devoted years in research and experimentation to develop such a truly moth-proof product. The results were refinements that make Lane Chests completely outstanding, yet no more costly to possess.

For instance, the handsomely embellished front of the LANE, and its ends, back, and bottom are made of aromatic red cedar hardwood not skimped but 3/4-inch thick. This extra thickness affords an adequate amount of the volatile cedar oil, and is in accordance with the U. S. Government recommendations for a moth-killing cedar chest.

Every LANE whether in all-cedar or with walnut or other hardwood exteriors has this authoritative construction and is certified to that effect.

It has many other features you will like — the Aroma-tight lid, the new, sealed springlock and Aroma-tight hinges, a beautiful pore-sealing finish, all of which add much to value and nothing to price, and which make the LANE so ideal for gift selections.

$18.75 to $55

See the chests! Never will you set eyes on lovelier chests than the ones we are now showing. And our prices and terms are sure to please you.

(OTHER CHESTS IN WALNUT $12.50 to $35.00)

Window seat model with genuine wood carvings and hand decorations with rich veneers of walnut stump, mottled mahogany and cherry burl.

Chest with rare veneers of American and African walnut and maple and cherry burl. Embellished with genuine wood carvings.

APPLETON STUDENTS AT MADISON MEETING

Five Appleton students are attending the state convention of high school editors in Madison today and Saturday. They are Miss Jane Dreesly and Miss Betty Elias of the editorial staff of the school newspaper, William Chopin of the newspaper business staff, Miss Marjorie and Wilmer Stach of the annual business staff.

The convention is held every year during the Thanksgiving recess under auspices of the journalism department at the state university. Various phases of high school journalism are discussed, under the direction of Dr. W. G. Elyer and Prof. Cotton R. Blase of the university.

The students were accompanied to Madison by Mrs. W. C. Jacobson as chaperon.

CHILDREN TODAY... NATION BUILDERS TOMORROW

What's ahead for that boy, that girl of yours? They are tomorrow's Nation Builders. They'll need strength and stamina, vitality and health.

Prepare them now. Give them an abundance of the food values that come in Carnation Flaked Wheat, a vitalizing hot cereal for boys and girls.

The vitalizing wheat heart is in every grain. The finer, non-irritating bran remains. Proteins, starches, minerals, carbohydrates and vitamins A, B, E and G build young bodies and promote resistance to disease.

Carnation Flaked Wheat is mighty good to eat... a temptation even to indifferent appetites. Besides being a most wholesome and nourishing food it is also very economical. It comes in two sizes, 1 and 2 lbs. If your grocer has none in stock, he can get it from his wholesaler.

No can of Hills Bros. Coffee will ever "go stale." The vacuum can keeps it FRESH ALWAYS!

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow...

a little at a time

...so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time.

The matchless flavor of Hills Bros Coffee can't possibly vary!

"A little at a time," instead of in bulk, insures perfect roasting

Hills Bros is the only coffee roasted by the patented, Controlled Roasting process

A look and a guess decide the degree of roast for bulk-roasted coffee. And it is impossible to always guess the same. That is why such coffees often vary in flavor. But Hills Bros. Coffee never does! It is roasted a little at a time... evenly, continuously by the patented, Controlled Roasting process which creates a rich, uniform flavor in every pound. No disappointing variations! Always the same!

No stale coffee, either! For air, which makes coffee go stale, is removed and kept out of Hills Bros.' vacuum cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh.

But Hills Bros. Coffee is always as though it had just come from the roasters!

Try Hills Bros. today. You will still drink it a year from now! Its exquisite flavor... the perfect flavor of the coffee-berry... never varies. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

Once is enough!

A sensational advertisement may fool you—but only once.

A "bargain" that looks good may deceive you—once.

A house-to-house canvasser may take you in, but he won't call a second time.

A & P stands in direct contrast to such temporary hit-and-run methods. A & P is a permanent part of the Nation's life and business.

A & P stands behind everything it sells. Otherwise millions of American housewives wouldn't continue to buy all their food at A & P.

A & P does sell at bargain prices, but never at the sacrifice of the highest quality in food.

VARYING WEATHER CONDITIONS RULE THROUGHOUT U. S.

Five Motorists Perish in Swollen Texas Creek—9 Indians Die in Cold

Kansas City—(AP)—Weather conditions throughout the nation are unsettled following Thanksgiving day storms that added deaths and property damage to the toll of early winter in the west.

A light snow fell in central Ohio last night. Snow or rain were in prospect for much of the region east of the Mississippi river. While a zone of cold stretched from Washington and Oregon toward the Great Lakes region, moderating influences were noted generally throughout the plains states.

A party of five motorists drowned in a rain swollen creek near Tyler, Texas, yesterday. At least nine Navajo Indian pinion nut hunters have frozen to death on the blizzard swept mesas of New Mexico. A sheepherder perished near Glenrock, Wyo.

Nine hundred sheep drowned in a reservoir near Malta, Mont. They wandered onto thin ice in a blizzard. A cold spell in southern California was definitely broken. Fear of frost in the citrus belt has passed. Snow was forecast in the mountains of California, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Utah. The middle west prepared for showers and rising temperatures.

Fear for the safety of two missing Columbia Falls, Mont., school boys, Robert Gordon and Billie Haines, who had been missing since Tuesday, was dispelled when searchers found them safe in Shelby.

Passengers on two Southern Pacific trains delayed several hours yesterday in the Sierra by a storm, passed the time frolicking in the snow.

POLICE LOOKING FOR AUTO STOLEN HERE

Police this morning were looking for a Buick coach, 1926 model, owned by Edward Voight, 318 E. Harvard, which was stolen on E. College-ave about 8:30 Thursday evening. The car had the license number D-56202.

PROFESSOR BACKS MODERATE USE OF SLANG EXPRESSIONS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Slang isn't so bad if you know when to quit. Dr. Clarence Stratton, director of English in Cleveland, Ohio, and a nationally known authority on the subject, told the National Council of Teachers of English in convention here yesterday.

"I don't mind slang at all, unless it is used in excess," Dr. Stratton said. "or unless it develops a mental laziness that prevents acquisition of good English."

Anyone having a good vocabulary is privileged the occasional use of such expressions as "Oh Yeah," "hot dog," and "aint," Dr. Stratton said, because of foreign influences on the American language.

He predicted better English usage in this country with the decline of immigration.

POULTRY AWARDS MADE AT OSHKOSH EXHIBIT

Oshkosh—(AP)—Fowls exhibited at the Wisconsin State Poultry association's annual show in progress here had "something to crow about" on Thanksgiving day.

Not only were they very alive on the "fatal" day, but judges also selected blue ribbon winners as follows:

Black Cochins, E. Engelmann, Milwaukee; White Cochins, E. Engelmann, Milwaukee; Buff Cochins, E. Engelmann, Milwaukee; Wyandotte bantams, H. Herziger, Sheboygan; game bantams, E. R. McCormack, Green Bay; barred Plymouth Rocks, Schaffrankski's, Stevens Point; white Plymouth Rocks, Mrs. John Bohn, Clintonville; Rhode Island reds, W. H. Laabs, Waupaca; single comb white Leghorns, W. H. York, Ripon; ducks, geese and pheasants, Northern State Hospital, Winnebago.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—Senate insurgents reach into their suspense file and draw out a memorandum put there two years ago and due for action today. On Nov. 8, 1929, addressing a manufacturers' banquet in Washington, Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire called the western progressives "sons of the wild jackass." If they weren't really wild then, they were thereafter.

The small, dapper and acidulous senator, a blend of Josh Billings and Job Hedges, plus vast erudition, waits with a quiver full of epigrams, and a ruddy encounter is promised. Aspiring to the court of St. James, Senator Moses has found that epigrams sometimes bounce back. "Erbert Hoover's my man," he said in 1925, ironically astrophorizing Mr. Hoover's supposed British leanings. He has left poisoned arrows festering under many sensitive hides. He reads original Greek and administers classical trimmings to his adversaries. Graduated from Dartmouth in 1893, he was minister to Greece under President Taft and in the senate in 1918. He is editor of the Concord, N. H., Monitor.

Life has been rosy for William Woodward, who gives an $89,000 rose window to the cathedral of St. John the Divine. The owner of Gallant Fox, bank president and chairman of the Jockey club, has ascended a pleasant highway. An attache of the American embassy in London, he inherited from his uncle, James T. Woodward, a beautiful estate in Belair, Md., and the Hanover National bank, of which he later became president.

The Belair estate had belonged to Governor Samuel Ogle, who in 1747 had imported some of the first thoroughbred horses ever brought to America. Mr. Woodward began developing a stud. In five years his horses had won $1,300,000. He and three others brought from France Sir Galahad III. They paid $125,000 for him. Gallant Fox, bred from him, won around $400,000.

More than six feet tall, cultured, reserved, Mr. Woodward is perhaps America's most eminent country squire. He never bets on a race, but he sometimes loses as much as twenty pounds, worrying, when some stable pet is getting ready to go to the barrier. Mr. Woodward is Harvard, '98.

Winston Churchill, the most experienced and, in the view of many observers, the most brilliant man in British politics, is on the sidelines in current critical engagements. In the Tory assault on the dominions independence act—won by Premier MacDonald—the first overt move against the coalition found Mr. Churchill with only a guerrilla following.

British insiders say he is out because he is too dangerous, too brilliant and powerful. All talk of the possibility of a British dictatorship visions Winston Churchill as the dictator. All factions are of aid to give him leadership. One of the unchallenged masters of narrative prose, he has served in the ministries of colonies, navy, munitions, war home offices, air and the treasury. He was in parliament at 27 and in the cabinet at 34. He fought in India and the Boer war. Now, like Kipling's disconsolate Tommy, he trims the colonel's hedges—"im as 'as been wot I've been."

Big Ten Charity Games Tomorrow Will Decide Conference Title

BOILERMAKERS READY TO STOP NORTHWESTERN

Indiana Humbles Illinois and Chicago in Yesterday's Battles

BY WILLIAM WEEBES
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Three conference football games will be played tomorrow, and the employment relief funds in seven states will benefit by the athletes' extra labor.

Charity will receive all the receipts after actual expenses have been paid, but the athletes will be thinking more about the Big Ten championship, than of the gate and relief funds. The battle between Purdue and Northwestern, the key stone of the title situation, has grabbed most of the interest, but the meetings at Ann Arbor, and Ohio State and Minnesota at Minneapolis, are expected to attract nationwide attention in sufficient quantity to give charity another big boost.

Michigan and Ohio State welcome the opportunity to make one more stab at the championship, but to Northwestern, the situation is not an entirely happy one. The Wildcats have fought their way through a schedule of eight games without defeat. Five of their triumphs were over Big Ten opponents, and under ordinary circumstances, Northwestern would be the undisputed holder of the title. However, one of the conference's strictest rules—limiting its members to eight games each season—has left the Wildcats with their biggest job an added one.

Purdue in Form
Should the Boilermakers, who apparently have found the form expected of them before the season opened, trim Northwestern in Soldier Field tomorrow, Michigan, by defeating Wisconsin, and Ohio by overcoming Minnesota, along with Purdue, would earn a share of the title. Michigan is favored to whip the Badgers, and Ohio rates just the faintest edge over the Gobblers, while the Purdue-Northwestern game appears to be a tossup.

Charity was enriched about $13,000 yesterday when Indiana outlasted Chicago, Iowa and Illinois to win the round robin tournament at Stagg field. As predicted, Chicago eliminated Iowa in one 20-minute "game." Then, Indiana, the out-pointed Illinois, and the Hoosiers, defeated Chicago in the playoff. Chicago defeated Iowa, 7 to 0, on an 80 yard touchdown run by Pete Zimmers, and Indiana got by Illinois by outstriking the Illini, eight first downs to four, with neither scoring. The Hoosiers finished the Midwest's most unusual football afternoon by beating the Maroons, 6 to 0.

A battle of backfields is expected at Soldier Field, where Purdue is scoring its stars, Pardonner, Risk, Purvis, Hucker, Tamm, and Horstman, against Northwestern's Potter, Renter, Meenan, Sullivan, Russell, Olson and Moore. The Wildcats line appears superior and may be the decisive factor.

CARNERA, CAMPOLO SHOW AT GARDEN

Primo Is 2 to 1 Favorite to Win Battle of "Dreadnaughts"

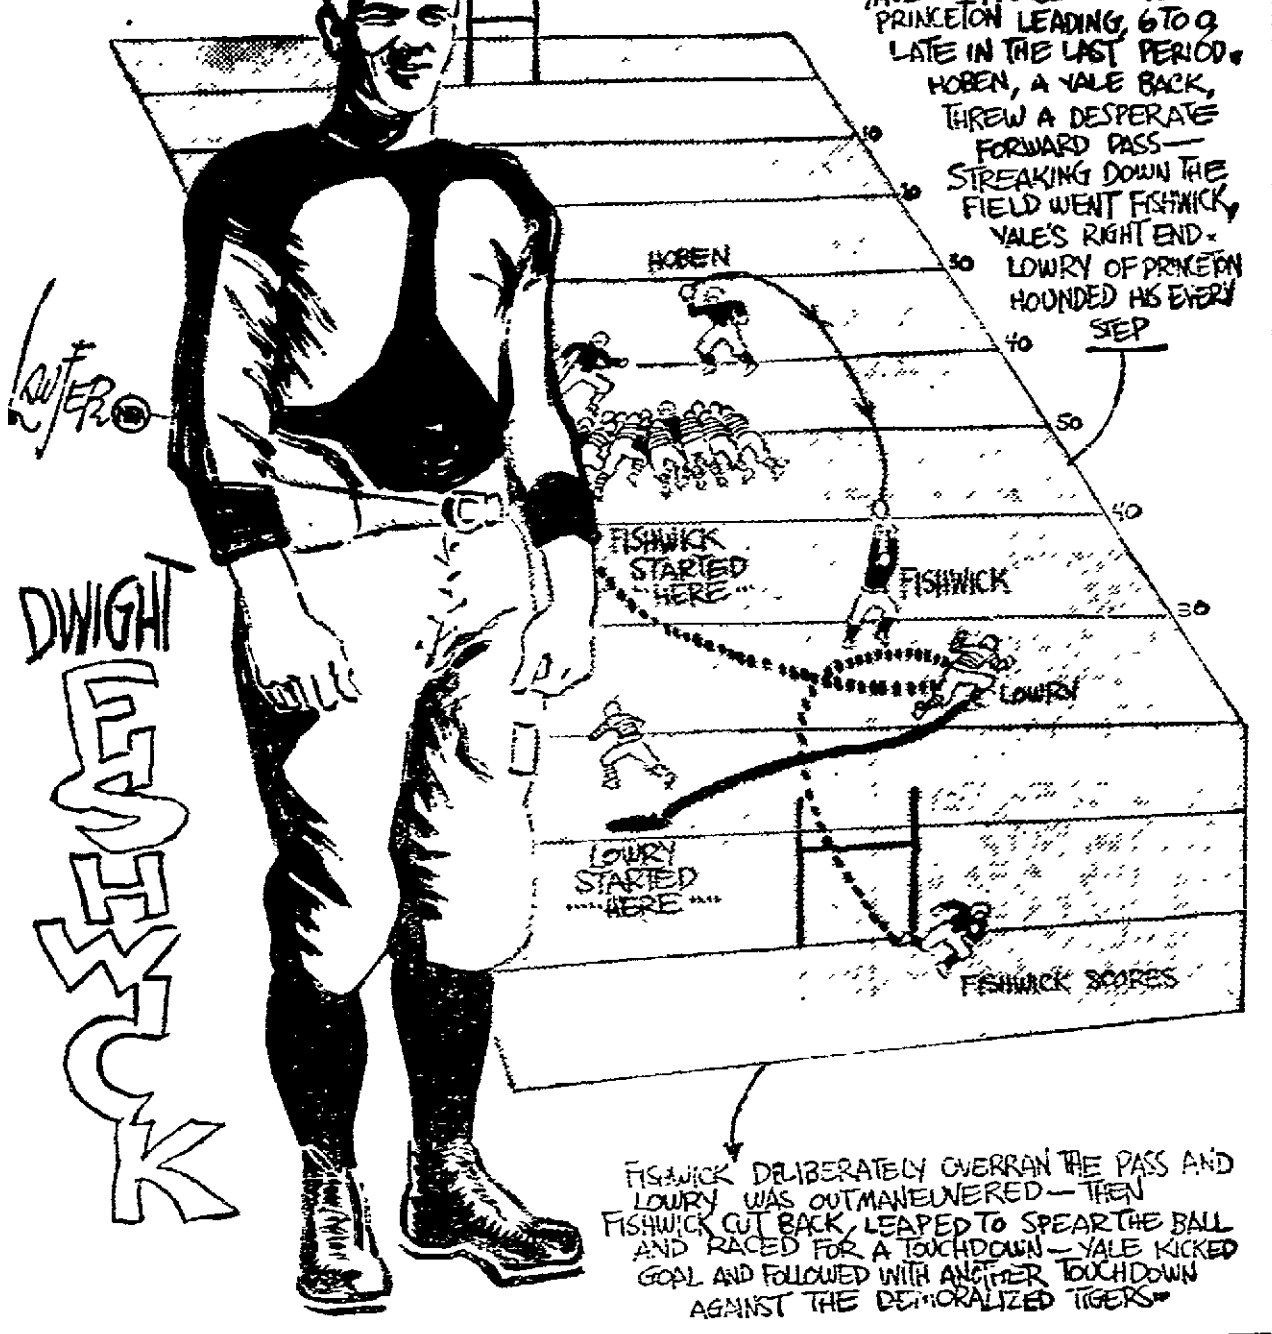

New York (AP)—Two Bohemians of the ring, Primo Carnera and Victorio Campolo, clash in a feature 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Carnera, the Italian giant, is the 2 to 1 favorite. The fight is expected to be a heavy draw.

Indignors today here at Primo would not let the prize choice at odds of 2 to 1 as a 2 to 1. The rule of Carnera, mostly perhaps best known for his fight with the Scotch American, Campolo, is a poor showman. Carnera, a half-ton, is a powerful, but not a great fighter. Campolo, a 150-pounder, is a better boxer, but Campolo packs the punch.

The physical advantages will be rather evenly divided. Carnera, at about 290 pounds, will outweigh Campolo by close to 50 pounds but the Scotch American will have advantages in height and reach. Carnera is the better boxer, but Campolo packs the punch.

Chaff 'n Chatter

NEWS FROM THE EAST
Bill Corum, New York columnist, packed up some tales about Johnny Blood, who is in Manhattan with the Packers. We can't vouch for their veracity, but they are good reading, so we'll quote him:

BY BILL CORUM
No Bad Blood, Please, Mr. Blood
NEW YORK—We met the old scout up on our corner at 103rd-st and Broadway, where the McNamara speak only to the Corums and the Corums speak to the landlady only when necessary. The old scout is a well known physician, who doesn't wish his name used, thus making it impossible for us to call him Dr. Harry A. March in this story.

The old scout was all hepped over the crowd of 40,000 which the New York Giants' professional football team drew out to the Polo Grounds last Sunday. This is, indeed, a goodly throng for a pro football game here or elsewhere, and it begins to look as though the boys who were dying for dear old Tim Mara will at last get flowers.

After counting the gate a couple of times Dr. March, as I am permitted to call him, said:

Northwestern and Purdue are expected to draw a crowd of 40,000 and Minnesota and Ohio State have for about the same number with good weather. The Wisconsin-Michigan engagement probably will be played before around 30,000 spectators.

BATTAGLIA SCORES K. O. AT SHEBOYGAN

Beats K. O. White, Chicago Negro in 55 Seconds; Kath Wins

Sheboygan (AP)—Frankie Battaglia, Winnipeg, Can., middleweight, scored his sixteenth knockout in 15 fights when he stopped K. O. White, Chicago Negro, in 55 seconds here yesterday.

White went down in a neutral corner after taking a hard right to the jaw in the first round of a 15-round bout at the Regatta Club. A lot of fans attended.

Charlie Crocker, Iron Mountain, Minn., won an unopposed 15-round bout from Gus Camp, Kenosha, Wis., in the sixteenth round.

Other results: Ernie Kars, Kenosha, Minn., beat Tiger Clark, Minn., in six rounds; Leo Battaglia, Minn., beat John D. White, Minn., in four rounds; Dan White, Minn., beat Joe D. White, Minn., in four rounds; and Joe D. White, Minn., beat Joe D. White, Minn., in four rounds.

MARQUETTE BEATS DRAKE, 32 AND 6

Avalanche Trails 6 and 0 at Half: Sisk Scores Three Times

Des Moines (AP)—Drake University Bulldogs, Missouri Valley conference football champions, took a 32 to 6 beating from Marquette University last night.

Marquette fullback, ran 43 yards for a touchdown in the opening minutes of the game. At half time Drake held the lead, 6 to 0, but in the next half the Golden Avalanche staged a steady march for touchdowns.

Johnny Sisk, playing his final game for Marquette, counted three times and made good two placekicks. A Halman and E. Bonzani provided the each.

Drake has two more games, one with Loyola University at Los Angeles, Dec. 4, and the other with the University of Hawaii at Honolulu, Dec. 19.

PITT PANTHER REVEALS POWER; WINS 40 AND 0

New York U. Beats Carnegie Tech 7-6; Cornell Whips Penn

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Aside from its traditional aspects, the Thanksgiving day football program served to boost Tulane into undisputed possession of the Southern conference lead; give the Utah Indians a chance to win their fourth straight Rocky Mountain conference title; and establish Pittsburgh as possibly the strongest of eastern teams.

Tulane, although idle until Saturday, automatically gained sole possession of the Southern conference lead when Tennessee's unbeaten eleven found the Kentucky Wildcats entirely too wild and had to be satisfied with a 5-6 tie. Tulane, with Louisiana State to beat in its final conference game tomorrow, was overwhelmingly favored to win clear title to the southern crown.

Utah, the class of the Rocky Mountain group for some years, buried the Utah Aggies under a 24-0 count to wind up its conference slate undefeated.

Pittsburgh beaten only by Notre Dame, showed amazing power and a versatile attack in crushing Nebraska, 40-0. Nebraska had expected to make it close but had no chance to stop the Panthers. Pitt finished its season undefeated in the east, trouncing West Virginia, Penn State, Carnegie Tech and the Army among eastern rivals.

As a general rule there were few surprises in other holiday results. Colgate, Holy Cross and New York University, favorites all, had to come from behind to win. Colgate turned back Brown, 23-7; N. Y. U. nipped out Carnegie Tech, 7-6, and nosed out Cornell, 7-6.

Holy Cross just made the grade against Boston College, also by a 7-6 count. Cornell, beaten only by Dartmouth, wound up a highly successful season by whipping Pennsylvania, 7-0. Maryland had little trouble with Johns Hopkins and won, 35-14. North Dakota and George Washington fought to a 6-6 tie.

Alabama, finishing its Southern conference schedule with a rush, walloped Vanderbilt, 14-0. Auburn just managed to escape off South Carolina's scoring bids to win, 12-6. Virginia Poly whipped Virginia Military, 18-6, and North Carolina took Virginia Poly the same count.

Mississippi defeated the Mississippi Aggies, 25-14 in the other conference game of the day. Clatsop's powerful team won the Southern inter-collegiate A. A. crown by whipping Centre 27-7. Howard of Birmingham chalked up an intercollegiate win at Duquesne's expense, 13-6, but Loyola of the south fell before Santa Clara, 13-7.

The Texas Aggies conquered Texas Tech in their annual Southwest conference duel while Arkansas outpointed Centenary, 6-0. Oklahoma City won its 11th straight victory, beating Tulsa, 14-0. Oklahoma and Oklahoma A. and M. fought to a scoreless draw.

The University of California at Los Angeles furnished the Pacific coast with its first victory over a southern team as the Bruins tripped up Florida, 13-0. St. Mary's of Oakland returned to form and walloped Oregon 16-0.

While East was clinching the Rocky Mountain title, the Colorado St. Louis 34, Washington Univ. 0, Kansas State 22, Washburn 9.

Irish Gridders Forego Turkey

Cleveland (AP)—What, no turkey? Maybe that's what the Notre Dame football team thought yesterday when they sat down to their Thanksgiving dinner. They dined on spinach.

The Irish, who passed through here enroute to New York to battle the Army, got a better break in the evening, however. Everybody had a wee out of roast beef and a baked apple.

Notre Dame Penalized Often In Recent Games

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
Copyright, 1931

NEW YORK (CFA)—Aftermath of the Notre Dame-Southern California game has involved some intimations from South Bend correspondents reflecting on the officiating in this stirring contest. Study of the running accounts of the game show that the Irish certainly did suffer from adverse decision and that indirectly the battle was lost through them.

Now, irrespective of the justice or injustice of these decisions—and competent observers advise the writer they were just—records show that Notre Dame this season has incurred an unusual number of penalties. That is to say, unusual for Notre Dame, whose teams have always stood out as being above reproach in the matter of strict adherence to the rules of play, save perhaps for an over-eagerness in shifting, which, as a matter of fact, was infrequent.

Notre Dame should be very jealous about maintaining this reputation, for it has been one of the very fine achievements of the football system at South Bend, something that has helped as materially in giving the Irish the position they have in sport as any of their ball-advancing achievements. The writer says this as a friend of Notre Dame and the university at South Bend has not a better one nor a more ardent admirer.

Lead 39 Yards in N. W. Game
Of the Indiana contest there is no running account available at this writing. But in the Northwestern game Notre Dame was penalized 30 yards for two cases of holding, against one 5 yard Northwestern penalty for offside.

Against Drake the Irish received three 15 yard penalties for holding one 5 yard penalty for interfering with the opposing center and one 5 yard offside penalty. Drake sustained one penalty for holding and a 5 yard penalty for two incomplete forward passes.

Against Pittsburgh Notre Dame lost 15 yards on three offside penalties, 15 yards for holding, with a penalty for two incomplete passes in the same series of downs. Pitt had one penalty for offside catch.

In the Carnegie Tech game the Irish lost the amazing total of 90 yards on six penalties for holding, 5 yards for offside. Carnegie suffered one 15 yard holding penalty, one penalty for interference on a forward pass and one offside penalty.

There were two offside penalties, one for holding and one for interference with a forward pass receiver in the Pennsylvania game. Penn received one offside penalty and 15 yards were called against her for interfering with a fair catch.

In the Navy game the Irish received three penalties for 25 yards and the middles four for 39 yards. No Penalties Against U. S. C.
Southern California had no penalties called against her in last Saturday's game. Notre Dame's penalties were as follows: Four penalties for offside, 5 yards for interfering, with a punt, one for holding, three for illegal interference with the forward pass receiver.

In all games except the one with the Navy, these statistics, taken from running reports of the games, in the press, reveal an unusual conditions in that penalties against the Irish greatly outnumber those called against her opponents. Of course, officials may have missed infractions by the other teams, but one may base judgment only upon the returns.

Notre Dame players should consider this showing seriously. They have a splendid gridiron heritage at South Bend and these boys of Notre Dame have it now in their keeping. No Rockne memorial could be more lustrous or more significant than Notre Dame football eleven that even bend over backward in perpetuating the fine things he taught.

White East was clinching the Rocky Mountain title, the Colorado St. Louis 34, Washington Univ. 0, Kansas State 22, Washburn 9.

LEWIS SEEKS LEVINSKY FOR BOUT WITH SCHAAF

Chicago (AP)—Machinist Nat Lewis of the Chicago stadium is trying to sign King Lewis, C. C. J. Lewis, a well known prize fighter, as opponent in the feature of the Stadium's Box 2 production.

W. L. (Young) Smith had been signed to fight two heavy weight bouts early next week, and cannot call the date. Lewis was sought following his great win against Primo Carnera in the Stadium last week. As SchAAF is called up until the first of the year an engagement with Smith, who had asked a postponement, is out of the question.

STEAMROLLERS NO MATCH FOR PACKER ELEVEN

Green Bay Champions Score at Will During Entire First Half

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The champion Green Bay Packers passed and ran to a 28 to 7 victory over Providence here yesterday in a National Professional Football League game.

The Packers scored 13 points in the first period. A pass, Fitzgeralds to Dilweg, netted 12 yards and was responsible for the first touchdown. Blood crossed over for the next marker after receiving a 22 yard pass from Fitzgeralds.

The Steamrollers scored in the second period after receiving a punt on the 30-yard line and tussling down to the Packers' 25. Shelley hurled a pass to Rose and he dropped it, but Providence was given the ball on the Packers' 2 and marker, because of Packer interference. On the second play, Woodruff went over Nash ran the kickoff back from his 15-yard line to the 47, where a pass, Molenda to Fitzgeralds, covered 41 yards. Molenda scored on his second line plunge. The longest forward pass of the afternoon, 55 yards from Molenda to Blood, brought the next tumble was recovered by Boudoin on Providence's 20-yard line. The ball was advanced to the 15-yard line, but the Packers were penalized 15-yards for holding. A 10-yard advance again was made and a pass of 20 yards, Molenda to Blood was good for another touchdown. The Packers scored again in the last period.

BEARS BEAT CARDS
Chicago (AP)—The sheest of Illinois galloped again yesterday to help the Chicago Bears defeat the Cardinals, 18 to 7, in their twelfth annual Thanksgiving day classic.

Breaking through center as the gun barked half time, Red Grange raced from his own 43 yard line, eluded Ernie Nevers and the rest of the Cardinal secondary, and stepped over the goal line for the second touchdown.

Penalties helped decide the fortunes of battle. Herb Jostling plunged over for the first touchdown after an offside penalty on the Cardinals placed the ball on the 3-yard line.

Mohr's worth, substituting for Grange, raced 29 yards for the third Bear touchdown in the third period, and a pass, Nevers to Creighton, and a line plunge by Eddien in the last quarter gave the Cardinals their only score. Nevers kicking the point.

STAPLES BEAT GIANTS
New York (AP)—Stapleton turned back the New York Giants, 9 to 6, in a National Professional Football league game here yesterday.

Ken Strong as usual, led the Stapleton attack. He broke loose in the first period for 17 yards and a touchdown and added the extra point. That score was enough to win, as it turned out, but Stapleton made sure in the fourth period when he blocked a pass from Benny Friedman for a safety behind the line. The Giants scored in the second period when Friedman tossed two long passes to Laherty and then got loose for 15 yards and the score. Moran failed to kick the point.

BASKETBALL SHOES GIVE IOWA GRIDDERS A 38 TO 0 VICTORY

Chicago (AP)—If football shoes won't do the work on frozen or slippery gridiron, try basketball shoes or stocking feet—that's the way they do out in Iowa.

The Simpson college eleven of Indianapolis, Ind., won the Iowa conference title yesterday, by using basketball shoes on a frozen field to wallopp Penn College, 38 to 0. Cleats failed to make an impression on the turf and the Penn eleven got no-where.

NOTE INCREASE IN NUMBER OF BOMBS IN 1931

Association Says Competitive Business Causes Most Chicago Trouble

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Chicago—(CPA)—The bombing business in Chicago seldom has enjoyed such a profitable year as 1931 judging by a survey of "pineapple" bursters for the period, prepared by the Chicago Employers' association, anti-bomb organization.

Already, the organized bomb syndicate, which does business on a well established basis, has received 109 explosive missiles in the city, causing an aggregate damage of $102,000. The blasts, which are not an uncommon diversion to Chicagoans, were much more numerous than in 1929 when 74 were experienced through the entire 12 months. But they were much less destructive. The 74 last year blew up $300,000 worth of property or $3,859 worth each, while the 109 this year did an average damage per bomb of only $550. No lives were lost in either year.

The market revival in this "pineapple" business, the Employers' association reports, was due in large measure to competitive troubles in trade. The study showed that only one political bomb was thrown, with six tossed out of revenge, 16 because of prohibition disputes and five as a result of gambling troubles, and 57 based on business difficulties.

Last year, with warfare more bitter, bombs were largely of the dynamite variety. This year they have been black powder missiles for the most part, designed to intimidate rather than to destroy.

In any case they make a loud detonation, somewhat hard on the Chicagoan's nerves.

Commenting on the 1931 bomb business report, the Chicago Daily News editorially says:

"In European practice the use of bombs has been restricted almost entirely to political purposes, but, despite the unsavory reputation of local politics, political motive has been traced in the case of only one bomb explosion in Chicago in the last 11 months.

"Fortunately no fatalities are charged against bombing, but that negative showing is too fortuitous to be accounted to the credit of those who practice the art. For purposes of killing they favor the sawed-off shotgun, but the possibility of destroying life as well as of wrecking property is always present when bombs are used.

"The fact that what the Employers' association calls business competition is mainly responsible for this type of criminal activity is matter for serious reflection. Racketeers—

Special Session Most Important In Many Years

By John E. Rohan
(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—The special session of the legislature will be an interesting chapter in the political history of Wisconsin. Special sessions always are interesting. They are important economically and legally, because they are usually called to meet some urgent need. They are important politically because like the "same duck" session in Washington they provide a perfect setting for the political maneuvers of men and parties.

Wisconsin's special session this year is particularly interesting because of the wide scope of its business and the great importance. Barring a certain amount of political maneuvering, this Wisconsin legislature should be one of the best.

The work of the special sessions of the past is almost insignificant compared to the program that the present legislature has before it. In 1925 when Gov. John M. Blaine called the legislature into session the problem before it was evaluation of highway building. The City of Chicago had passed an ordinance forbidding the use of milk from cattle within a certain test for 14 days. The legislature was called to evaluate the ordinance. The City of Chicago was called to evaluate the ordinance. The legislature was called to evaluate the ordinance.

The present session is called to evaluate the ordinance. The legislature was called to evaluate the ordinance. The legislature was called to evaluate the ordinance.

WOMAN SURPRISED BY DRY LAW ARREST IN BADGER STATE

Superior—(P)—Cecilia Stewart, 31, who came to Wisconsin for freedom from prohibition, was in the county jail today for four months.

"I didn't know you could get arrested in Wisconsin for making moonshine," she told a judge in municipal court.

Police raided her home and found a still, mash and 19 gallons of liquor. She was sentenced under a very heavy fine.

CAN'T PAY MILEAGE WITHOUT STATUTE

Madison—(P)—The legislature cannot be granted expenses of a trip to the state capital unless it is authorized by statute. This is the ruling of the supreme court in a case involving the legislature's attempt to pay mileage for a trip to the state capital.

The case involves a trip made by a member of the legislature to the state capital. The legislature attempted to pay mileage for the trip, but the supreme court ruled that it could not do so unless it was authorized by statute.

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

SYNOPSIS: Mystery wins popularity, Venice Muir decides, when she alters her reputation for dullness, in New York society, by fabricating an interesting career abroad. She returns to find that the rumors about her many conquests are believed everywhere. She wants to impress Drake Farrelly, and already has attracted Roland Wainwright.

"Yes, Miss Venice. A Mr. Severn." "Thank you, Nora." Venice sighed. That was one of the men she had met at Lola's house-warming.

Another evening Donny Reese took her to the Pierre for dinner and dancing. As the hours wore on she went into the dressing-room and telephoned home.

"Any messages for me, Nora?" "Yes, Miss Venice, Miss Nolly called up. She wants you to come over tomorrow about things to do with her wedding. She's going to be married on the eleventh."

"Thanks, Nora." Even this exciting news could not dispel her disappointment. It was five days since she had met Drake in the Park and he had said he was going to telephone this week.

All was happy confusion at the Spaldings' the following afternoon. A quaint looking Frenchwoman, no taller than a child of twelve, was there cutting out Nolly's wedding dress. Nolly wanted to know if she should wear a choker, were long sleeves necessary, should she go away in blue or brown.

"I think I'll go away in brown," reflected Nolly. "It suits my mousey hair."

"Where are you going?" Venice asked.

"To a little hotel in the Pocono mountains. Ernest knows of it. It's not too much for me, we may drive on farther, but Pongo is a fifth wheel on a honeymoon. Tell me about Roland Wainwright, Venice. Have you seen him since the Yale-Princeton game?"

"No." And that reminded her that it was a fact. Had she lost him completely? She mustn't. She wanted more of a revenge than a rejected kiss for the night of that girl's car ride on the black broadcloth of his arm. And she had not displayed herself with him quite enough as yet either.

"What else? Any gaieties this week?"

"A small dinner at Mrs. Goadby's for Lola and Jerry. And a wonderful evening at the Pierre with Donny Reese."

"It's marvelous," Nolly signed ecstatically at visualized pictures of Venice successfully gadding about.

"Did you ever hear of a Drake Farrelly?" Venice asked casually.

"No. Who's he?"

"A nice person. You must meet him some time. I ran into him walking across the Park after I left you last week."

"Another suitor, Venice?"

"Yes." She warmed herself at this thought as though hovering on the bank of a fire.

"Go on."

"He telephones me almost every day."

"Oh Venice, I can't keep track of."

"What's the Schurpers' address?" Mrs. Spalding wanted to know.

Venice hurried out into the hall where the director's were piled.

Later Venice walked home across the Park hoping she would see Drake. There were at least three men ahead of her that she hastened to pass because they were about Drake's size. One proved to be a snub-nosed Irishman, another a wizened little face about sixty years old and the third was colored, shiny and black as coal as ebony.

"Any telephones?" she asked as Nora opened the door.

"Mr. Wainwright, Miss Venice. He said he'd call again at eight."

Venice, eating her solitary dinner, speculated as to why she didn't hear from Drake. He had seemed so friendly and pleased to see her again. It was undoubtedly his kindness. She had told him all about her friend's largeness and her mother's death, pouring herself once more as a girl to be pined. If he would only hear of Rene and Guy. That would put her in a new light. She would stand out for him then, not just retreat to the back of his mind as some one for whom to feel sorry. That was why he was always so nice to her, of course.

"Mr. Wainwright on the telephone, Miss Venice."

"Oh." She put down her napkin and left the table.

(Copyright, Harriet Henry).

Venice finds that Roland Wainwright is anything but "lost" to her, tomorrow. Why does she become more bitter toward him?

CHEESE GROUP ACCEPTS PLAN ON PAYMENTS

Compromise Arrangement Approved by 32 Factors at Monroe

Monroe—(P)—Acceptance of a compromise proposal offered by the National Cheese Producers' federation in a dispute concerning over-payments made by the federation to the factories was voted late Wednesday by representatives of 32 cheese factories.

The compromise provides the federation will reduce by $25,000 its claim of more than $500,000 from the factories in over-payments made for cheese delivered to its warehouses.

The federation's claim is based on a cooperative agreement with the factories whereby the factories may be assessed for losses sustained by the federation because of a slump in the price of cheese.

Emerson E. Madison, legal counsel for the federation, explained the federation accepted large amounts of foreign type cheese, advancing to the factories the market price existing at the time of delivery. Due to falling markets, the federation was forced to sell at a loss.

In case any one of the 167 factories affiliated with the federation desires to sever connections with the federation it may do so on April 1, it was agreed, if 30 days advance notice is given and the factory's share of the over-payment has been repaid or arrangement for repayment has been made. Contracts as drawn run to May 1.

Suggests Payment Series
Arrangements for spreading payment on assessments beyond May 1 may be worked out, E. A. said, by an agreement between the factory and the federation, headquarters of which is at Plymouth, Wis. He suggested payment on a series of monthly notes bearing interest at 5 per cent.

The federation also agreed, E. A. said, that Joseph Acherman, who represents the federation in selling foreign type cheese in the Monroe district, be asked, "as evidence of his good will," to reduce his fees about $5,000 annually.

About a month ago representatives of the factories organized a protest movement against the federation's claim for reimbursement and retained Attorney M. O. Mout, Janesville, as counsel. When advised the federation's compromise had been accepted by a vote of 19 to 2, Mout said he felt the Monroe group had accepted a very meager concession.

"It is not even a decent kind of settlement," Mout said. "Had there been more unanimity of support by the factory representatives, I am convinced they could have done much better. They seemed reluctant, however, to go into court to fight the case."

ILLINOIS MAN DIES IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH
Chicago—(P)—Harry Buchner, a machinist of Addison, Ill., was killed Wednesday when his automobile collided with a machine driven by Russ Monteen, Kenosha, Wis. Two companions of Buchner were injured, one of them, Ray Prentice of Elmhurst, so badly he is not expected to live. Monteen and two younger brothers escaped injury but his mother, Mrs. Clara Monteen, was cut and bruised.

Burglars Now Dress Like Stars, Make Good Hauls

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Hollywood—(CPA)—Burglars in Hollywood now wear white sweaters and natty knickers, for Hollywood parties have grown so informal and Hollywood guests so athletic that the burglars dress in this fashion in order not to be conspicuous. A burglar in white sweater and knickers has made several good hauls at recent parties. He mingles with the guests first and with their wraps, overcoats and pocketbooks afterward. It is a porch climbing with a new twist.

A twist equally new is the manner in which guests react to being robbed. One star, whose cloak with blue fox collar had been omitted by a burglar at a recent party, went about protesting that she didn't see why the thief had not taken her wrap. She protested until some one cuttily suggested that possibly the blue fox wasn't authentic. This was pure luck, but ever since it has been rather a mark of cheapness to have one's wrap rejected by the gentleman in the white sweater.

Because of the increasing prevalence of porch climbers, due to financial stress roundabout, the movie studios have grown leery of announcing that a star or a company is going on location. Going on location of course means that a star and the company will be at some spot distant from Hollywood for several weeks. But the way it works out the star and any important members of the company are put on the spot in Hollywood by burglars during this absence from town.

Burglars, it seems, follow these location announcements. Several burglaries have followed likewise. The studios are considering the keeping of location news a deep, dark secret. And many hostesses are asking those guests who drop in at a big conglomerate party from tennis or golf not only to dress as little athletically as possible—merely as a matter of mutual protection—but for the time being, if they must wear sweaters, to wear anything but white.

DATA DEMANDED ON OVERHEAD PROGRAM

Two Resolutions Investigating Projects Offered in Assembly

Madison—(P)—Two resolutions demanding facts and figures on the railroad grade separation program undertaken at the behest of Governor LaFollette were introduced in the assembly Wednesday.

One of the measures was submitted by Assemblyman Charles Budlong, Marinette. It proposed a new use of the money which is available for the elimination of crossings.

The other was introduced by Assemblyman Otto Kehrein, Milwaukee.

It asks that the unemployment relief commission to make a complete report next week, citing the projects undertaken, the cost, the number employed on them, those contemplated and the amount of money available for such work.

Assemblyman Budlong's resolution asks the highway commission and the unemployment relief commission to make an estimate of the proposed cost of every grade crossing. If the cost is such if it were placed at 4 per cent interest it would pay the wages of three crossing watchmen or eight-hour shifts at a salary of $70 a month, then such projects would not be constructed. The state would set aside the money to employ watchmen, under the terms of the measure.

Washington—"Snake" King of Brownsville, Texas, who sells snakes for a living, has a plan to make HEM-ROID Tablets must end your things better in this country. He proposes that congressmen learn to catch snakes before qualifying for office and that there should be a law to require persons to prove they had seen America first before they could have passports for Europe.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves
It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. E. Leonard's prescription HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Schütz Bros. say HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back. adv.
